FORM ZEPPELIN FLEET FOR LONDON RAID

ARMOR AIRSHIP TO LEAD FLEET

DAUGHTER OF EX-SENATOR ALDRICH BRIDE ON DEC. 10

Miss Elsie Aldrich, who will be married to Stephen Maurice Edgell of Newport, N. H. This is the first picture of her ever published.

Miss Aldrich has been prominent in social activities of New England and Washington. She is an intimate friend of Helen Taft.

An announcement of interest to Harvard and society circles is that of the coming wedding of Miss Elsie Aldrich, youngest daughter of former United States Senator Nelson Wilmarth Aldrich of Rhode Island, to Stephen Maurice Edgell, Harvard, '07, of Newport, N. H., and Denver, Col. The ceremony will take place on December 10 at the Aldrich home at Warwick Neck, R. I.

Miss Aldrich has been prominent in social activities both in New England and at Washington, where she was an intimate friend of Helen Taft and a frequent visitor at the White House during the Taft administration. It is said she first met Mr. Edgell in Washington.

Miss Aldrich's favorite pastime has been literature. She never attended school, having been educated by private tutors. She is a close friend of the wives and daughters of most of the foreign diplomats at Washington. One of her sisters is Mrs. John D. Rockefeller, Jr.

Mr. Edgell has a Summer home, "The Knolls," at Newport, N. H. He is engaged in the sugar industry at Denver.

German Grain Ample Until 1915 Crop

BERLIN, Oct. 28, via London, Oct. 29.—The Bundesrath met today (Wednesday) to discuss ways and means of conserving the food supply for the people during the coming year, and decided that with certain expedients the grain supply would be ample until the 1915 crop had been harvested. The mills will be allowed to convert larger percentage of grain into flour; 10 per cent. of rye may be added to wheat flour and 20 per cent. of potatoe flour added to rye.

Sir Charles Douglas Honored at Burial

LONDON, Oct. 29.—General Sir Charles Douglas was buried with full military honors today. King George, Queen Alexandra and the Duke of Connaught were represented at the service. Eight generals acted as bearers. Among those who attended the services were Earl Kitchener, Earl Roberts, Premier Asquith and all the military attaches of the embassies and legations here.

MAY HOLD UP U. S. SHIPS

WASHINGTON, Oct. 29.—The right to search American merchant ships on the high seas, in opposition to which the United States went to war in 1812, will be admitted by the State Department during the present war.

Announcement to this effect was made by Acting Secretary of State Lansing today. His statement followed the publication by the Treasury Department of a prohibition of the making public of manifests of merchant ships leaving American ports until a month after they have sailed. This prohibition, Acting Secretary Lansing stated, was issued after a consultation at the State Department.

"The right to search all vessels on the high seas will not be opposed by this government," Mr. Lansing stated. "The right of Great Britain or other nations engaged in war to stop an American ship and examine her cargo, no matter what its nature or destination, is recognized by this government. All future protests or complaints filed by the United States will be based on this conclusion."

The outcome of the State Department's decision in this matter will be that all American ships will be liable to stoppage and examination on the high seas by foreign warships. Protests by this government will be filed only when the ship is taken into port and held for a considerable length of time.

Taxi Bandits Get $4,000 in New York

NEW YORK, Oct. 29.—Taxicab bandits today held up two employes of the Stanley Soap Works of No. 640 West Thirtieth street and robbed them of $4,000, the weekly payroll. There were four bandits. While two of them held the victims prisoners at the point of revolvers the other two ran with the loot to Twenty-ninth street, where they leaped into a taxi and sped away.

Spanish "Peace Army "Increased

Discredit Angola Invasion by Germans

BERLIN, via Amsterdam, Oct. 29.—Reports of a German invasion of Portuguest territory in Africa are discredited here. It officially stated that nothing is known of German troops entering Angola.

ARABIC IN WITH WAR REFUGEES

Miss Elsie Burjelict, a young German war refugee, was one of the most interesting saloon passengers on the White Star liner Arabic which reached Boston today from Liverpool and Queenstown.

"I simply couldn't stay in England another hour," she said to the reporters. "Life there for me was intolerable. I was actually persecuted. I was pointed out in the streets as German.

"I was employed as governess in the family of a wealthy English manufacturer in Birmingham. I ate with the family. They did not mean to be cruel to me, but they continually talked war and abused the Kaiser and the German army and told what was to become of the fatherland, until I could not stand it any longer.

"JUST INBRED HATRED."

"I don't think they did it maliciously. It was just an inbred hatred. The servants, too, ridiculed me and pointed me out as a German.

"I had been visiting friends at Chestnut Hill, Brookline, and returned to England, intending to reach my home in Germany, but was prevented by the war.

"My only recourse was to find employment in England. I tried to live down the English hostility for my people, but it was no use. I must refrain fri mdivulging the name of the family. They were nice people, but they were English.

"I am to return to my friends at Chestnut Hill and remain in this country until the war is over. The members of that English household talked so cruelly of my race that it often made me weep."

BABY COMES ALONE.

The Arabic brought 230 cabin and 315 steerage passengers. The pet of all on board was Barbara Rimmer, a chubby-faced girl of five years who made the 3,000-mile trip across the Atlantic alone.

Her papa, M. Rimmer, of No. 247 Washington street, was on the dock to hug and kiss Barbara and she smacked him back a number of times. The reunion touched the immigration officials who are used to all sorts of scenes. Barbara answered questions with the poise of a big girl.

"How long has your papa been over here, Barbara?" asked a man with brass buttons.

"Let me see," said the little miss. "It must be two years. Mamma died and papa went away and I lived with granny outside of London."

CARE OF SHIP'S NURSE.

Barbara was cared for by Mrs. Evelyn Hill, the ship's nurse, whose room she shared. Her father paid for second passage.

General Villa of Mexican fame, had a "roter" aboard in the person of Thurston Hamer, who was accompanied by his wife and four children. Said Hamer:

"I belong in Mexico City. When things got warm toward the close of the Huerta regime we went to Europe for peace and safety. We ran into war over there. When we landed today we saw by the headlines in the papers that hings look warm again in our native land, with Villa and Carranda at each other's throats."

John the Lunchman to Defy Law by Wearing Crimson

"John the Lunchman," who handles the eats at the Lampoon building, Cambridge, announces that he is going to wave the red flag of defiance at the red flag law.

"I'll make a test case of it all right, all right," John told the students today. "Saturday I'm going to carry the crimson to the Stadium. Let the cops arrest me if they want to. I'll fight the war through to a finish."

Five Named, But None Last in the Ninth Hampden

As matters now stand there will be no Democratic candidate in the Ninth Hampden District, Holyoke, in the ballot Tuesday.

Five nominations have been made, but all have failed to stand the test of the Ballot Law Commission.

The nomination of John J. Murphy and Arthur G. Greaney were rejected by the commission today. It was Greaney's second attempt to get on the ballot.

Maurice J. Donahue, nominated at the primaries, failed to stick on account of non-residence. Greaney made the protest.

The district committee then named Arthur P. Rohan. Greaney protest again sustained.

Greaney was then nominated—rejected; likewise Murphy—rejected; Greaney again—rejected.

Testimony showed that all of the nominations by the committee were made without a quorum present.

U. S. Nips Mexican Filibuster Plot

LAREDO, Tex., Oct. 29.—A plea to organize a filibustering expedition to invade Mexico from American soil was nipped today when United States military officers and marshals arrested four officers belonging to the army of General Villa. They are charged with violating the neutrality laws. The prisoners are accused of enlisting more than 1,000 Mexicans with the purpose of leading them across the Rio Grande and attacking the garrison at Nuevo Laredo now held by the Carranzistas.

Boston Is to Have Plenty Xmas Trees

Despite the Federal quarantine which prohibits the exportation of Christmas trees from the gipsy-moth infected area of New England to uninfected places, Boston and vicinity will be able to enjoy the evergreen boughs as usual this Christmas, for she can get her supply from either within or without the infected area.

Clear Sunken Ships From Antwerp Port

ROSENDAAL, Holland, Oct. 29.—Ships sunk in the harbor of Antwerp when the Belgians and English evacuated the city have been raised by the Germans and the River Scheldt is again open for navigation.

REPORT IMMENSE LOSSES IN GERMAN DEFEAT IN POLAND

That Germany is planning an aerial invasion of England is no longer doubted in London, according to this afternoon's cable dispatches from the British capital. The government is rushing measures to meet the attack, and an extra guard of aeroplanes patrols the channel night and day.

A dispatch from Brussels says that the shed for Belgian dirigibles, at Etterbeek, has been more than doubled in size since the Germans seized them and work is going on day and night upon new sheds in the aviation grounds at Bercham-St. Agathe. As long as the Germans hold Ostend they have an open route from Brussels to England for their Zeppelins. It is believed that a number of the German airships formerly along the Rhine have been sent to Brussels and that city will be the centre of airship operations.

The Brussels dispatch says that the searchlights used by the Germans make it impossible for any hostile airship to approach the sheds there at night and during the day aeroplanes keep up a constant patrol. Among the machines there is said to be the armored Zeppelin recently launched at Friedrichshafen. This is believed to be the flagship of the squadron that is expected to attack England.

There are rumors that an anti-airship gun, greater in range than ever before made, has been perfected at the gunplant of Great Britain.

BERLILN ADMITS DISASTER.

Today's war advices emphasize the disastrous plight of the German armies retreating from Poland, and confirm the reported check of the German advance along the Belgian coast.

The German War Office makes a significant admission when it officially announces that "the withdrawal of the Austro-German forces before Ivangorod and Warsaw was accomplished with great success," the Russians being "unable to pursue rapidly" because of losses suffered in the attacks along the Vistula. This would seem to confirm the Russian claim that the German retreat was almost a rout.

Gains by the allies at several points on the western battle front, particularly around Ypres in Belgium and south of Arras in France, are announced in the official statement issued in Paris this afternoon.

According to information given out at the French War Offfice, the Germans in the recent fighting in Belgium sacrificed between 75,000 and 80,000 men in their attacks along the Yser, with the French ports as their objective. No information is given as to the losses suffered by the allies, but it is stated that their casualties were only a fraction of those suffered by the Germans. As a result of French successes north and east of Ypres, the French war officials believe that the German attacks on the Nieuport-Dixmude line have been halted for a time at least.

The German cruiser Emden, the terror of the allies' shipping in the Far East, continues her career of destruction, according to cables today from Tokio. It is reported that she has torpedoed and sunk the Russian cruiser Jemtchug and a French torpedo boat destroyer in the harbor of Georgetown, in the Island of Penang, off the west coast of the Malay Peninsula. The Emden

YOUTH DYING, PROBE ASSAULT IN CAMBRIDGE

John F. Mahoney, seventeen, of No. 135 Spring street, East Cambridge, is dying at the Cambridge Relief Station from severe stab wounds in the groin and stomach and the police of the East Cambridge station are trying to solve the mysterious assault on him, while he was returning from evening high school with three companions.

Frank Ferilla, twenty-five, of No. 117 Otis street, East Cambridge, has been arrested charged with assault with a dangerous weapon. Although he has been identified as the assailant by Mahoney's companions, he protests his innocence.

Mahoney received the wounds when he was pounced upon by a man who jumped from the shadow of a Parnell street doorway. With him at the time were Michael Buckley of No. 10 Ninth street, Joseph Field of No. 12 Parnell street and Daniel Herlihy of No. 16 Winter street.

Ferilla was arrested through the ingenuity of Field, who claims that he followed the assailant to the Otis street house, where Ferilla lives. The police believe that Mahoney is a victim of mistaken identity.

$152,610 Collected for Taxes at Night

The total collections of taxes in outside wards of Boston reached an aggregate of $152,610.48, according to an announcement from the office of City Collector John J. Curley. The plan of receiving taxes at night concluded last evening.

'WOULD LIFT TAX BURDENS,' SAYS WALKER

Offering a remedy for present tax evils, Joseph Walker, Progressive candidate for Governor, spoke last evening at Malden and Cambridge. He said in part:

"In a former speech I have called attention to the fact that for ten years our State expenditure has increased at the rate of $1,000,000 per year, and that for twenty years our net State debt has increased at the rate of $1,000,000 per year. I have pointed out the various ways in which the State could economize. I have shown that added revenue is imperative and that this can be obtained from those who now dodge their taxes, thus imposing the burden of taxation upon those who are least able to bear it.

"I now wish to suggest a great tax reform which goes to the root of the whole taxation problem, and which would solve the question of revenue without imposing one additional cent upon either the consumer or the producer. I refer to a tax on the unearned increment of land. Germany and other European countries have already tapped this great source of revenue. It is time that Massachusetts laid this soundest and least burdensome of all taxes.

"Such a tax would lift the burden of taxation from the consumer, would free the producer, would remove the tax incubus from commerce and industry, would yield an enormous revenue without injustice to any man; would lessen the cost and stimulate the use of land, and would tend to reduce the cost of living. I stand for granting the right to our cities and towns to tax land at a higher rate than the improvements on land."

LOUNIA BURNEY, the young bride, who will be deported to Syria as a result of her elopement and subsequent capture.

Order Deportation of Syrian Bride

Pretty Sounia Burney, who came to America ten months ago from Syria, will be deported. Mrs. Burney got past the immigration authorities by telling them she had come to America to join an uncle. Investigation showed afterward she married Esede Burney. Then she eloped and the authorities were notified.

Bessie Abbott Feeds Youngest Stowaway

NEW YORK, Oct. 29.—Eight-year-old Tony Campagna, the youngest stowaway ever brought to this port, owes it to the intercession of Bessie Abbott, the opera singer, that Captain Prothero, of the Carpathia, did not make him peel potatoes all the way across.

Tony was almost exhausted when Miss Abbott found him hidden in a lifeboat. She game him food and took care of him. He will be deported.

Take Alleged Thief in Shopping District

Chased by a crowd in the shopping district Thomas Kelley of Concord was captured opposite the Granary Burying Ground and booked at the City Hall avenue police station on a charge of larceny of a bag from Mrs. H. W. Ring of No. 157 Hillside avenue, Arlington.

SOUTH RESOLUTE IN HOPE OF THE FUTURE

By JOHN TEMPLE GRAVES.

Editorial Representative of Hearst Newspapers.

ATLANTA, Oct. 29.—After many a rain-swept and stormy evening, the skies have cleared at midnight to make entrance for a new and radiant morning.

It is so with the South. Out of the most serious financial shadow that it has known for half a century there is surely coming and at hand the day of better methods, wiser economics and more substantial prosperity than this section of our country has ever known.

For a quarter of a century the thoughtful economists and serious leaders of the South have preached the wholesome gospel of diversified industries and self-sustaining products of the soil. It has taken this European war and its smashing assault upon the supposed citadel of our agricultural fortunes to awaken the South and to impress the saving lesson of common sense. The schoolmaster has been stern and the discipline bitter. The suffering has been great. Millions have vanished from our financial fabric, and fortunes have faded in a night. But the splendid soil remains. The incomparable climate is about us. The unconquerable spirit of a people who outlived the travail of reconstruction survives. And the South, taught of experience and disciplined at last by disaster, is about to overthrow the old oligarchy of agriculture and compel King Cotton to share his throne with cereal and sustaining products of the royal line of prosperity.

APATHETIC EAR.

In years past every farmer heard the counsel of his leaders, listened with respectful apathy to those who warned against the coming day of disaster to the all-cotton planters, and resolutely went home to increase his cotton acreage, in the faith that his neighbor would do the curtailing and he would grow rich from an enormous cotton yield in a year of small supply and great demand.

Burned to the level of his selfishness and cupidity by the torches of this war, every farmer will heed, without the lashes of the law. And the 1915 crops, while they will carry cotton moderately for the world's demand, will certainly begin to pile up the great cereal and staple crops, behind whose sustaining, living power they can defend the citadel of their staple property against speculation or war.

Place the cotton crop of 1915 at 9,000,000 bales or less.

I have never seen anything to equal the intelligent vigor with which the South is adapting itself and preparing itself for the new era of agricultural independence. Millions of acres are being set aside for food crops that have carried cotton heretofore. Corn and wheat, alfalfa and hay, fruits and potatoes, canteloupes and poultry, cattle and hogs are preparing a permanent and prosperous home in the future economy of Georgia. The Boys' Corn Clubs and the Girls' Corn Clubs are among the most enthusiastic and numerous organizations in the State. Some of them have the record of 200 bushels to the acre.

TEACHING LESSON WELL.

The universities and railroads are planting in every county of the State their practical and scientific agriculturists to teach a willing and waiting people all the details of diversified farming. There are more prizes and premiums being offered in Georgia for the best yield per acre of corn, the best acre of potatoes, the best hogs, the best cattle, the best field of alfalfa, the best yield of canteloupes, etc., than will be set in cups and prizes for all the athletic fields of the republic.

The last parade of the Boys' and Girls' Corn Clubs in Atlanta, led by three Governors, and with Judson Harmon, of Ohio, as orator, stretched over a mile of the city's streets.

On the 18th day of November more than one hundred counties in Georgia will gather at their county sites in great "home products dinners," at which every article to eat, to wear, to drink, to serve and to enjoy will be made in Georgia—the plates, the dishes, the table linen, the cutlery and the bills of fare.

It is the beginning of the renaissance of the old South of marvelous riches in agriculture. It is the awakening of a great people to thrift and common sense.

IMPROVEMENT BEGINS.

The present situation, bad as it is, is improving—in the philosophy of acceptance and renewed endeavor. Three thousand Southern banks are lending money to the farmer on his cotton. The commercial syndicate of the St. Louis, New York and Southern bankers will provide for a mighty volume of the surplus cotton. The scant concessions wrung from Congress and the administration will do something to help. The new interest and demand from English mills is inspiring all along the line. And there is the development from Washington, printed first of all in the Hearst newspapers, that cotton is not contraband of war and can go without interruption to Germany and Austria, where they wait to welcome it. And back of it all this initial tonic of the "Buy-a-Bale Movement," to which the Hearst newspapers have given so virile and eloquent an advocacy. This movement, first of all, revived the drooping spirit of the Southern farmer, braced him to hold his cotton as long as he could, sustained the price for nearly two months in the face of a rapidly falling market, and did more to advertise to the world the standard value of the staple, the variety of its uses, the possibilities of its development, and to introduce it to millions who never saw it before than any incident in its history.

FACING THE FUTURE.

The cotton grower has settled himself now to the situation. He has already suffered much. He is going to suffer more. Along with him and because of him there is bound to be a long list of sufferers from the army of the unemployed, flung out of work by the shutting down of shops and the reduction of working forces on the railroads and the mills and the corporations. These last are the men who will suffer most, because they have no remnant of "hog and hominy" to fall back upon. But the whole list is gritting its teeth and facing the future resolutely. The farmer is going to sell his cotton or lend it at the best terms he can get, pay his debts, pocket his losses with courage and go out for the better day.

Finally, the cotton grower of the South thinks, and has good reason to appreciate, the splendid expressions of sympathy and co-operation from the men and women of the North, from Massachusetts to California, who have generously bought his bales of distress cotton, braced him with courage and wore his cotton fabrics everywhere in ballroom and public assembly, to the eye and admiration of the world.

PROFESSOR DOMENICO ARGENFIERI, who has invented a device for intercepting wireless messages. He is shown with the receivers on his ears.

Radio Intercepter Defies Authorities

ROME, Oct. 29.—The Rev. Professor Domenico Argenfieri has just invented a new system for receiving and intercepting wireless messages. Professor Argenfieri claims that with his system the receiving masts can be dispensed with. His apparatus, which can be carried in a coat pocket, receives messages from any distance when connected with electric wires. The connection is very simple. Messages can be received in any house lighted by electricity. Government control over the reception of messages is impossible with this invention.

ORDER HEARING ON EAST BOSTON FIRE CAUSE

State Officers Thomas Thompson and Edward Sherlock, and Fire Chief Godbold of East Boston, after an investigation today of the fire which started in the store of Jacob Saperstein at No. 155 Meridian street, East Boston, ordered a hearing to be held tomorrow when witnesses will be examined to determine the cause of the fire.

The hearing will be at the State House, and it is probable that all tenants of the tenements at No. 155 and 157 Meridian street will be called upon to testify.

From Saperstein's store, the fire worked its way through the walls to the lodging house of James Crouse on the second floor, driving fourteen persons to the street.

The State police will be asked to investigate a fire which started early today in the store of Jacob Saperstein on the first floor of the building at No. 155 Meridian street, East Boston, and worked its way through the walls to the lodging house of James Crouse on the second floor, driving fourteen persons to the street.

The fire started under a stairway in the rear of the store. It was not discovered until it had spread to the lodging house, when one of the lodgers was awakened by the smoke. Six children, who were asleep in the house, were carried to the street.

John Doherty of No. 151 Meridian street was slightly injured when he slipped down a flight of stairs while carrying Mrs. Crouse to the street. On a previous visit to the burning building, Doherty, with former Representative McCarthy, had assisted Mrs. Mary Shannon and Mrs. Mary Shea to the street.

Five years ago this building was burned with a loss of two lives. One man was killed when he jumped from a window and another was burned to death.

Held in $10,000 for Lynn Assault

John McSweeney, owner of a lodging house at No. 18 Stewart street, Lynn, was held in $10,000 in the Lynn court today on a charge of assault on Frank McGarry, a boarder in the house. According to the police the two men had an argument and McSweeney is alleged to have thrown McGarry from the second floor. McGarry fell to a concrete walkway. At the Lynn Hospital, the doctors, who said they did not know whether his neck or his back was broken, reported that he would die.

Harvard Clubs to Meet at Big Fair

The nineteenth annual meeting of the Associated Harvard Clubs will be held in San Francisco on August 13 and 14. This is the first time the clubs have met on the Pacific Coast, and it is expected that, in connection with the Panama Exposition, there will be a large attendance. Among the speakers will be President Lowell.

The Harvard Bulletin is seeking information about Harvard men who are now on the firing lines in the big European war. The Bulletin declares that it will welcome brief notes from the relatives and friends of these men.

"PRAYER SAVED ME AT DEATH TRIAL," SAYS MRS. CARMAN

RAVEN ROCK, N. J., Oct. 29.—In an old-fashioned stone farmhouse topping the high hill about the village of Raven Rock, an hour away from Trenton, the heroine of the famous Carman trial is resting and planning.

She arrived at the hilltop farm at 9 o'clock last night, where she will rest until Sunday. Her eyes were narrow blue slits in her tired face. Only once did she smile. Then her face was beautiful. It was when she told about her little daughter, whose testimony went far toward saving her. Seven-year-old Elizabeth looked weary, too, from her long motor tour from Freeport.

A s[illegible] blue-eyed girl, with long braids, [illegible] Elizabeth, whom District Attorney Smith had asked with de[illegible] significance while she was on the stand, "You love your mother very much, don't you?"

While the Carman family sat waiting for supper to be laid by the farmer's wife in the dining-room, Mrs. Carman said:

WILL EDUCATE ELIZABETH.

"Of one thing I am sure. I shall push Elizabeth's education as far as I can and shall see that she is trained in something by which she can earn her living. That much is the order in the chaos of my life.

"American families and fortunes are so uncertain that every girl should be taught something by which she can support herself. I don't know what it will be, but Elizabeth will be sure to discover something she likes particularly and whatever that is we will make it the basis of self-support."

Mrs. Carman's shapely head, leaning wearily against the back of a wooden rocking chair moved from side to side as she said every girl should be taught how to earn her own living.

Dr. Carman, who had been looking at his wife's profile silhouetted against the wall, turned his eyes away at this.

Dr. Carman had made money rapidly, had spent it easily, and Mrs. Carman looks as if she might count and save as thriftily as housewives should. The rule of most domestic infelicities, trace it far enough, and you will find is money. Recall the incident of Nurse Varance, the loan of $15 and the indignant slap.

NOTHING PLEASANT IN TRIAL.

"Guess Elizabeth will need to earn money, since the doctor's pockets are running dry," was dark-eyed spectacled Lawyer Levy's jest, upon which Dr. Carman turned a slightly acid smile. Mrs. Carman's face relapsed into its sphynx-like rigidity.

"Have you any pleasant recollections of any part of your trial?" Mrs. Carman was asked.

"No, there could be nothing pleasant nor lightening about it. No one could have stood by me more splendidly than my family did. Every one of them and my friends were staunch. My lawyers were able and indefatigable. They could not have done more than they did."

"What do you feel was the attitude of women toward you generally?"

"I had some very kind letters from women, and some that were very terrible."

"What of your jury?"

Mrs. Carman's lips straightened and hardened. "I said at first that I thought they were an intelligent jury. I still think the majority were intelligent."

TRIAL A PROLONGED HORROR.

Mrs. Carman's smile was faint and forced.

"I am unable to see anything humorous in any part of the jury's proceedings," she said with a shade of primness. "It was a prolonged horror to me; one long terrible endurance test. I was bitterly disappointed that I was not acquitted."

"Especially," came from vigilant young attorney Levy, "since she knows what motive actuated one juror to vote for conviction. I am not at liberty to repeat it for publication. He told me in confidence. It would astound the community if it were known."

"I don't know how I stood the trial," said Mrs. Carman. "It was not simply that I had sound nerve. I am a Christian woman, a member of the Methodist church. I believe in answer to prayer. That may have sustained me. That is the only advice I can give to other unfortunate women who may be situated as I was.

"If you are innocent trust in God. One lesson I learned from my trial is that things that in every-day life would be trifles become mountains in a trial in court.

"That is the chief lesson of my trial. I think that insignificant incidents can be made to take on an amazing significance."

She rose from the rocking chair, heavily, wearily, when the farmer's wife said, "Supper is ready."

NEAR PHYSICAL BREAKDOWN.

It seemed to require a mighty effort of the will to save the tall, finely-moulded figure from falling to the floor.

Physically, at least, the enigmatical central figure of the Carman mystery is near to undoing.

"We will be here until Sunday," Dr. Carman said. "She will decide what to do by then. She wants vindication, and I think she may ask for another trial. She does not want to be a sacrifice to District Attorney Smith's political ambitions."

The man of the ill-assorted pair repeated what his sphinx-like spouse had said:

"We will not change our lives in any way. We will go on living in Freeport among our friends as before."

2 Men Stab Allston Man in Back Bay

John Doyle, twenty-eight, of No. 15 Raymond street, Allston, is at the City Hospital, suffering from a stab wound in the right breast which he says was inflicted by two young men, early today, who accosted him on Batavia street, near St. Stephen street, Back Bay. His condition is not believed to be serious.

Suspend Warden at Sing Sing Jail

ALBANY, N. Y., Oct. 29.—In compliance with Governor Glynn's request, John D. Riley, State superintendent of prisons, has suspended Warden Joseph McCormick of Sing Sing Prison, pending an investigation of allegations that David A. Sullivan, wrecker of the old Union Bank of Brooklyn, had been granted improper privileges while a prisoner.

MARY I. YOUNG, nurse who sails for the front on November 3.

BUY BANDAGE, PLEA OF NURSE TO BOSTONIANS

If you want to help a good cause in a practical way, then—

Buy a bandage!

This is the suggestion of Miss Mary I. Young, a nurse now at the Y. W. C. A. on Warrenton street, who sails for England on the Arabic on November 3 for the war zone.

Miss Young is going to do what she can in humanity's cause at the front. She says Americans can do much by helping swell the American Red Cross fund for the purchase of bandages and dressings for the wounded soldiers on both sides.

"The price of a bandage or dressing is ten cents," she says. "Every dime contributed will mean a bandage or dressing for the soldiers. The money should be given to the Red Cross.

"There are thousands upon thousands of wounded, and the number grows more appalling each day. Think of what your dimes can do and then buy a bandage."

Miss Young asks that all contributions be sent to the American Red Cross. The bandages themselves may be contributed if desired.

Furlong Says Copley Square Is Disgrace

"Among the disgraces in Boston is Copley square, often called the artistic centre of the city," declared Charles W. Furlong, the author, in speaking at the Twentieth Century Club.

VENUS STATUE CAUSES SUIT FOR DIVORCE

CLEVELAND, Oct. 29.—Mrs. F. E. Dellenbaugh, wife of former Judge Dellenbaugh, testified in seeking a divorce that her husband spent a good part of his time when they were calling at a friend's house in walking round and round a statue of Venus de Milo.

She informed the court that at her request he signed a domestic "magna charta," which detailed he must not slam doors, parade about in sullen temper, drink, tell objectionable stories before her, her daughter or guests or use objectionable language.

"He said it was a blackmailing paper," Mrs. Dellenbaugh testified. "He said he would send copies all over the country and show me up as a blackmailer. He'd go about the house calling, 'Blackmailer! Blackmailer! Where is she?'"

That the dignified judge turned into a "silly, stupid, boorish drunkard" when he returned home at night was another statement made by his wife.

EMBROIDERY OUTFIT IS IN BIG DEMAND

The distributing stations for the AMERICAN'S splendid pattern outfits are busy little spots these crisp October days with Xmas only eight weeks away. New England women and girls were quick to take advantage of the AMERICAN'S remarkable embroidery offer. Scissors have been busy clipping the coupons which are being printed daily in the Evening AMERICAN.

Every outfit consists of over 200 up-to-date hot iron transfer patterns, an all-wood embroidery hoop of special design and ten skeins of silk and floss in assorted colors.

The throngs of women who have secured the outfits in the last two days have been ASTONISHED at the remarkable value of the set.

Every woman knows the price of a single good pattern when purchased in the ordinary way, and the comments on the big assortment now being distributed by the AMERICAN have, in every instance, been so favorable that tremendous demand is certain.

To secure this assortment of patterns with the hoop and floss, it is only necessary to clip six coupons of consecutive dates from the Evening AMERICAN and present or send same, with the small cash amount of sixty-eight cents, to the AMERICAN Pattern Department, No. 5 Winthrop square, Boston, Mass., or at your local newsdealer's, no matter in what city or town you may live.

Anyone can begin clipping the coupons today or any day while the offer lasts. The coupon will be found every day on the Magazine Page. Any woman who is even slightly interested in embroidery work will do well to call at her local newsdealer's and ask to be shown the AMERICAN'S pattern outfit.

Begin clipping the daily coupons and take advantage of this splendid offer.

CARRANZA HAS 40,000 TROOPS TO FIGHT VILLA

MEXICO CITY, Oct. 29.—Forty thousand troops have been gathered at Queretaro by Constitutionalist leaders loyal to General Carranza to oppose any attempt General Villa may make to capture the capital.

General Pablo Gonzales has been placed in command of these soldiers and supporters of Carranza declared today that they would be able to repulse any attack on Mexico City.

FISH DAY IS OBSERVED AT THE FOOD FAIR

Today is fish day at the food fair in Mechanics building. In order to encourage the use of fish by the families of New England, the New England Fish Exchange has arranged to give away several thousand packages of fresh fish to the first comers among the women patrons. Special fish chef d'oeuvres will be shown by expert cooks and a lecture on various ways to cook fish will be delivered in the evening by H. Jaeger.

Boston public school children's tickets will be good only up to Friday night, those from other cities being good up to Saturday night. At 4:15 today special suffrage exercises will be given in Paul Revere Hall.

Governor Walsh and Mayor Curley have been invited to attend the Anti-Suffrage meeting which is to be held Friday evening in Paul Revere Hall.

SPLENDID EMBROIDERY PATTERN OUTFITS FOR BOSTON AMERICAN WOMEN READERS

NEWSY NOTES OF POLITICIANS AND POLITICS

"Our antlered opponent," says Secretary of War Garrison, "has apparently gone off in search of a sequestered salt lick." But Mr. Penrose of Pennsylvania has not complained that Mr. Roosevelt is neglecting the campaign.

* * *

It is all right for Mr. Garrison to use military terms. We understand—he's Secretary of War, and all that. But when he classes the Progressives as "unorganized snipers" he underrates the second party in the State.

* * *

Mr. Garrison also read a letter from Richard Olney. Far from being important, it almost invites suspicion when Mr. Olney supports any candidate. Mr. Olney has just been compelled to retire from the Boston & Maine directorate, on account of his participation in the railroad misconduct and lawlessness of the last ten years. He was a moving factor in forcing the iniquitous American Express Company contract on the Boston & Maine—and this letter to Colonel Harvey absurdly anti-climaxes Mr. Olney's career.

* * *

State Senator Francis J. Horgan's Congressional fight against George Holden Tinkham has gained momentum in splendid style during the past week.

* * *

Congressman Thacher is campaigning in French, but he will need a regular gift of tongues to convince the hardy Cape Cod mariners, who look back over 200 or 300 years of seagoing life, that this country does not want an adequate merchant marine. Mr. Thacher's stand against the merchant marine marks him as a man asleep to the needs of his time.

* * *

The Republican leaders who are conducting Mr. McCall's campaign still complain of the "indifference" of the voters.

* * *

John R. Murphy has joined the opposition to the proposed new city charter.

* * *

Former President Taft has been named an honorary "Mayflower." He is eighth in descent from Frances Cooke, a Mayflower passenger.

* * *

Joseph Walker's rally at Malden last night, where 1500 voters crowded in to hear and cheer him, would seem to indicate that the Progressive candidate has no complaint of the voters' "Indifference."

Neither has Governor Walsh! Three thousand voters waited three hours at Springfield to hear him.

* * *

James P. Magenis, discussing his opponent, Grafton Cushing, pointed out that Mr. Cushing's chief political characteristic is opposition to measures such as the primary, initiative and referendum, and the abolition of party enrollment, and polished Mr. Cushing off with this picturesque word: "Mr. Cushing should be snowed under so deeply that the warmth of his disposition will never be able to thaw him out."

* * *

If Governor Walsh had done nothing else but reform our State Health Board and make it an efficient and vigorous body, he would amply deserve re-election.

* * *

Charles Sumner Bird believes in a two or three-year term for Governor; and if we were always sure of having Governors like David Walsh—or even like Mr. Bird himself—we would not object.

* * *

The Better Government Association of Salem says it's sure it has filed enough names to effect the recall of Mayor Hurley.

* * *

Alfred H. Evans, Prohibition candidate for Governor, says when the Republicans rejected the suffrage plank it was at the behest of the liquor interests—that suffrage and prohibition will come hand in hand. There are many who agree with him that the Massachusetts "ship of State" is very near the prohibition harbor.

* * *

Professor Evans and Mr. Walker are fighting the prohibition fight hand in hand. "If you don't vote for me, vote for Evans," says Walker, and Mr. Evans replies: "And if you don't vote for me, vote for Walker."

* * *

Frank A. Morrill, a former president of the Norwood Board of Trade, read at a Progressive rally in Norwood the AMERICAN editorial urging the election of Senators Burnham and Cox and paid the AMERICAN a warm tribute. Morrill headed the Massachusetts delegation that nominated Mr. Roosevelt for President in 1812.

* * *

Vice-President Marshall says Colonel Roosevelt sued the G. O. P. for divorce on the ground of non-support. When the divorce was granted, it turned out that the Colonel had been supporting the G. O. P.—did it not?

* * *

The Republican big guns are on the firing line today—Senator Weeks, former Governor Bates, and others; but they're not so effective as the German howitzers. Their ammunition is bad!

* * *

Members of the Harvard Democratic Club are helping the Democratic campaign today in Worcester, Fitchburg, Taunton and on the North Shore.

* * *

It is evidence of the straits to which Mr. Dallinger is put in his campaign efforts against Congressman Dietrick, that he has even misrepresented Dietrick's record by asserting that the Congressman favored the secret caucus—an absurdity which Mr. Dietrick nailed at last night's rallies. Mr. Dietrick's name is on the roll of honor of Massachusetts Congressmen who deserve re-election.

* * *

Sherman L. Whipple will preside at Congressman Mitchell's Brookline rally tonight, and George W. Anderson will be among the speakers. This will be one of the most impressive rallies of Mr. Mitchell's impressive campaign.

* * *

It is not generally known—but it is true—that Congressman Mitchell while in the Massachusetts Legislature introduced the bill for the direct election of United States Senators.

* * *

Congressman Mitchell—who is a member of the Ways and Means Committee in the National House—is one of Massachusetts' most valuable Congressmen—which is why he will be returned to Washington.

VIRGINIA MILLIMAN STURGIS, stage favorite, who has just won her fight for a divorce.

Virginia Sturgis Granted Divorce

Virginia Milliman Sturgis of New York, an actress, has been awarded a divorce from Harold R. Sturgis, a former Boston newspaper man, and was awarded $300 for counsel fees. Mrs. Sturgis made a hurried trip to Boston and was in the courtroom just ten minutes, testifying at the trial of her suit last week.

CHIEF DENIES PLAN TO SIEZE HARVARD FLAG

Harvard students are free to go ahead and fly their crimson flags just as much and as often as they like.

Acting Chief J. E. Murray of the Cambridge police rallied around the red flag of Harvard today by putting a quietus on a report that he would not only forbid any parade by students in which the crimson was borne aloft, but would have policemen on hand to make arrests of students who defied the much-discussed red flag law.

Chief Murray ISN'T going to do any such thing. He said so today:

"It is absurd to say that I plan to stop the Harvard parade because of the crimson flags," said the Chief. "There is nothing to that statement. I shall take no action whatsoever, unless of course complaints are made to me. But I shall not interfere in the parade of the students."

The first flying of the crimson at Harvard since the red flag decision of the Supreme Court is planned for Wednesday preceding the Harvard-Yale game, it was announced today. The colors will be borne by R. R. Ayres, vice-president of the seniors; president of the sophomores, Richard Hart; R. Norris Williams, vice-president of the juniors.

In an exclusive interview in the AMERICAN yesterday Assistant Attorney-General Thomas P. Riley said that the letter of the law would debar Harvard from carrying its flag, but that the letter was opposed to the spirit of the law and that no court would decide against Harvard for carrying its banner.

Despite this view, the Socialists, it was said, plan to protest the carrying in the streets of any red flag whatsoever.

Count Reventlow Scores U. S. View

LONDON, Oct. 29.—Count Reventlow writes in the Berlin Deutsche Tageszeitung regarding dispatches from the United States appearing in the London press:

"After Germany has for so many years endeavored to dispose of these grotesque mistakes and after the German policy during a decade and a half has been itself a refutation par excellence, it seems beneath our dignity to go on appearing before the United States in the attitude of one who thinks he must justify himself."

Uniforms of Dead Given to Recruits

LONDON, Oct. 29.—A London Daily News correspondent who recently visited Berlin writes from Venlo, on the Dutch frontier:

"In streets one sees very few young men of between twenty and thirty. Many wounded officers and men are seen limping along. An iron cross pinned to the tunics of the wounded is no uncommon sight.

"All uniforms of the killed are being cleaned for the use of recruits."

WILSON COTTON BALE SOLD FOR $1,000 AT BAZAAR

NEW YORK, Oct. 29.—Miss Eleanor Satterlee, nine-year-old granddaughter of the late J. Pierpont Morgan, visited the Red Cross Bazaar with her mother, Mrs. Robert Satterlee, and bought the pair of peace doves contributed by Mrs. Butler Duncan.

The Wilson bale of cotton has met an extraordinary fate. A mysterious person, said to be a famous New York and Philadelphia merchant, whose name, for the present, is being withheld, called up yesterday afternoon and closed a deal for its purchase at the unheard of price of $1,000. He said that he had a place for the President's cotton in his collection of curios.

"It is an entirely unique bale, and it deserves to be carefully preserved," he explained.

Among the scores of visitors to the knitting school was Mrs. William Randolph Hearst. Mrs. Hearst bought a set of needles, a skein of yarn to go with them, and spent a portion of the afternoon knitting comforts for wounded soldiers.

Another "cotton bomb" was sprung when it was announced at the bazaar's publicity bureau that Douglas Fairbanks had arranged to take over the McAdoo bale, which had been languishing in comparative oblivion, and auction it off to the highest bidder at his Saturday matinee.

In the Boston AMERICAN are really personal messages from progressive owners and brokers. Are you on the receiving end? You should be.

COLD GONE! HEAD CLEAR AND NOSE OPEN---IT'S FINE!

"Pape's Cold Compound" ends colds and grippe in a few hours.

Take "Pape's Cold Compound" every two hours until you have taken three doses, then all grippe misery goes and your cold will be broken. It promptly opens your clogged-up nostrils and the air passages of the head; stops nasty discharge or nose running; relieves the headache, dullness, feverishness, sore throat, sneezing, soreness and stiffness.

Don't stay stuffed-up! Quit blowing and snuffling. Ease your throbbing head—nothing else in the world gives such prompt relief as "Pape's Cold Compound," which costs only 25 cents at any drug store. It acts without assistance, tastes nice, and causes no inconvenience. Accept no substitute.

SEEK AMERICAN CRAFT TO SHIP COTTON ABROAD

NEW YORK, Oct. 29.—The British government having assured the State Department at Washington that cotton, not being contraband, would be allowed to go through to Germany and Austria, American vessels are being sought here to carry abroad the first shipments.

Robert F. Rose, foreign trade adviser of the State Department, in making this announcement, said the cotton would either be landed at ports in Holland and transported into Germany by rail or would be shipped direct to Germany.

It is planned to have the vessels bring back dyestuffs, cyanide, chemicals, medicines, sugar beet seed and potash. Although Germany has lifted the embargo upon these products it has been stipulated that they must be carried in American bottoms. For that reason American vessels only are being sought to carry cotton abroad.

The Matanzas, the first steamship laden with dyestuffs from Germany since the embargo was lifted, has left Rotterdam for New York.

Ambassador Gerard has cabled that Germany would need at least 30,000 and Austria 25,000 bales of cotton a month.

QUINCY CHARGE IS REVIEWED BY FITZGERALD

Reviewing his charge of mismanagement in Quincy in answer to a demand for an apology by Acting Mayor Whiton, former Mayor Fitzgerald has written as follows:

"Mr. Joseph L. Whiton, Acting Mayor of Quincy, Mass.

"My Dear Sir—In answer to your letter, my statement was as follows:

"'If I were to reply in kind to Mr. Cushing, I might find many examples of graft and mismanagement of finances in cities and towns which have been under Republican rule for many years. For example, Revere, Quincy, Brookline, Taunton, Watertown, Hull and Norwood and others which I might mention, are instances where either municipal corruption or mismanagement has been exposed within the past few years, and in some of which men who have stood high have been sent to jail.'

"My reason for bringing in Quincy as an instance of mismanagement, was in the following newspaper report of the findings of the committee of the Quincy City Council:

(Mr. Fitzgerald then quotes the report.)

"I had no intention of defaming the fair name of Quincy; I simply called attention to facts brought out by the members of Quincy's own government. Very sincerely yours,

(Signed)

"JOHN F. FITZGERALD."

Elbert Hubbard Urges Team Work, Citing the Bee

Get together! The badge of sanity is team work. A bee alone has no intelligence, but a hive of bees has a great and magnificent intelligence and has even solved the mystery of life, which as yet it has not been given man to understand.

Everything we think, everything we do is in connection with other people. All our activities must, therefore, be bound up in others—Elbert Hubbard in Harvard Union address.

SEEK GOLD FOR VAULTS OF NEW RESERVE BANKS

All banks of the Federal Reserve system received notification from Washington today that gold or lawful money must be used in making the transfer of reserve deposits from the present banks to the Federal Reserve banks. This will be done so as to fill the vaults of the twelve reserve banks with money at once and permit the ready issue of Federal Reserve notes to member banks.

"The Federal Reserve Board appeals to the patriotic spirit of all member banks, large and small," says the announcement," to do their utmost in facilitating the difficult work now thrown upon the officers of the newly created reserve banks, and to do all in their power to secure for the new system the greatest possible success from the beginning.

"In view of the advantage to be derived from the deposits of gold, which may be used as reserve for Federal Reserve notes, it is strongly urged by the board that deposits of reserves in the Federal Reserve banks be demanded, so far as practicable, in gold or gold certificates.

"Due notice of the establishment of the Federal Reserve banks on November 16 will be sent to each member bank by the Secretary of the Treasury and no transfer of reserve can be made until this is done.

"Member banks of large reserves will greatly facilitate the physical work of counting reserve money, if they will send gold certificates in as large denominations as possible, or Clearing House orders calling for gold certificates or gold already counted by the Clearing Houses."

A list of the men who have passed through our doors since way back in '52 would make a mighty good sized directory of the better dressed men of New England.

THE man on the left of the illustration is wearing our Double-Breasted Broadway. A Model with that dash which immediately stamps it as being New York. The broad lapel is set off by a wide velvet collar, according to the newest style tendencies. A tapering waist-line and abbreviated length give it decidedly the young mannish touch.

THE man on the right of the illustration is wearing our Balmacaan. The full sweeping looseness of this model has made it the all-around comfort coat of the season. It is most popular with a convertible collar that will either button up at the neck, storm fashion, or roll into a graceful lapel.

SUMMERFIELD'S

THE HOUSE OF DIGNIFIED CREDIT
Can Provide for all Your Needs
AND GIVE YOU A YEAR OR MORE TO PAY

The greatest happiness of young people's lives is to have furniture that is in harmony with their souls, who before their marriage had dreamed beautiful dreams of how their future home would look after the manner of their own idea.

But again, one of the most doleful of human tragedies is the home of young people who imagine that because they cannot afford better furniture, must be satisfied with the cheap, rickety trap variety of furniture that they abhor.

Hundreds upon hundreds of credulous young couples make this mistake. Perhaps they apparently don't know that high quality of furniture can be bought at the same price, and perhaps for less at SUMMERFIELD'S, THE HOUSE OF DIGNIFIED CREDIT.

"We consider quality far more important than price." Every article you select here is of the highest quality standard. Compare the quality, the prices that prevail here, and you will be convinced that Summerfield's is the logical place to make your selections.

EDISON SELLS PAPERS AND SITS AT TELEGRAPH

DETROIT, Oct. 29.—It became known today that Thomas A. Edison, visiting scenes of his boyhood here, cast off the mantle of his years and on a trip to Port Huron once more tried his hand at the telegraph key, and even went so far as to take the wares from a news vender and sell them among his friends.

As a boy, Mr Edison sold papers and worked as an operator for the same railroad over which he traveled to Port Huron. His last trip, however was in a special train engaged for him by his host, Henry Ford.

As the inventor passed through Mount Clemens he stepped into the telegraph operator's office and tapped off a message to his children in New Jersey. The message was interrupted, however. The Mount Clemens operator turned to Mr. Edison with a smile and said:

"An operator on the line is complaining. He says there is a boy on the wire whose practicing is gumming things up."

IDLE, NURSE SAYS, BECAUSE SHE IS GERMAN

Miss Marie E. Rudiger, a German nurse, living at the Grafton in Newton Centre, today made the remarkable claim that since the war broke out she has been absolutely unable to get work—simply because of her German accent, she believes.

Miss Rudiger thinks there is some objection to her nationality on the part of people to whom she has applied for a position.

"I can't explain it," she said today. "Why is it that since the war started I have been unable to get a thing to do, whereas before the war I had plenty of work?

"Now it seems impossible for me to get a position. I have applied everywhere.

"It does seem strange, indeed. I can't really explain it. I have tried my best to find something to do. Every one that I have approached lately has turned me away.

"I am not discouraged, but I am alone in this country. I do not understand American methods of pushing one's self ahead, but before the war I held many responsible positions, and nothing since then. I don't know why it is."

Miss Rudiger is a graduate of a German hospital, and is an excellent linguist, speaking both English and French. She has nine relatives fighting in the German armies. She said:

"I can't help loving the Kaiser and my Fatherland, and I hope Germany will succeed. Americans would say the same about their own country if they lived in Germany. I am well educated and can teach as well as nurse, but everywhere I go my accent seems to get a shake of the head. I do not understand it."

THE SPIRIT OF LIBERTY is found in the "Business Opportunity" columns of the Boston AMERICAN, for the offerings represent independence and freedom.

War Doesn't Interfere With Jason Weiler & Son's Diamond Business

—War has greatly handicapped many diamond dealers—due to the discontinuance of importation.

—Our position is a most fortunate one.

—As is well known, Jason Weiler & Son do an immense National mail order business—and our largest importations are always made far in advance of the fall season—in order to prepare for this mail order selling.

—Therefore our present stock is not affected by European hostilities, either in price or fullness of assortments.

RUSSIANS REPORT IMMENSE LOSSES BY GERMANS IN POLAND

is said to have been disguised by the addition of a fourth smokestack and by flying the Japanese flag. The Jemtchug was a boat of about 3,100 tons, with a speed of twenty-four knots, and carried a crew of 534.

The British and Russian governments have agreed to a mutually advantageous exchange of combatant and technical forces, it is stated in a Petrograd dispatch to the London Times. The details will be announced later.

GERMAN LOSSES 231,000.

The number of casualties among the German troops recorded by the first fifty lists published in Berlin totals 231,218, divided as follows: Killed, 36,531; wounded, 159,165; missing, 35,522. The dead include 2,385 officers.

More than 35,000 German and Austrian prisoners have been taken by the Russians in the fighting of the last ten days, according to a statement published in the Army Gazette at Petrograd today. Military experts estimate that the losses of the allied forces in killed and wounded number at least 25,000 more, making their total casualties 60,000.

A report from the Russian general staff says that the Germans have been driven back to their main trenches along the front extending from Thorn southward through Klodawa, Ozorkow and Petrokow. They have taken up strong positions upon the hills along the Ner River, south of Klodawa.

"To remove the Germans from these positions," the report continues, " it will be necessary to bring up heavy artillery. This will require considerable time, because of the condition of the ground. The Germans destroyed every bridge as they retreated from the Vistula and these will have to be replaced by pontoon structures."

Among the reinforcements received by the allies in Belgium are reported to be detachments of Indian troops that are believed to have been landed at Marseilles late last week and rushed at once to the firing line.

The French artillery has at last succeeded in getting to the front, over the torn and rain-soaked roads, a number of big guns to combat the heavy cannon of the Germans.

More French and British warships are reported to be on the way to French and Belgian coasts to form an unbroken line from Dunkirk to Zeebrugge, a distance of more than forty miles along the North Sea.

Because of the heavy losses they have suffered the Belgian forces in Nieuport have been compelled to retire, according to a statement issued at the Berlin War Office at midnight. The Belgians have been replaced by French troops and the Belgian town is still held by the allies.

A dispatch from Amsterdam confirms reports that several German submarines have been sent by railway to Zeebrugge, the port of Bruges, whence they will be dispatched against the British fleet off the Belgian and French coasts.

A Madrid dispatch to the Paris Journal states that one of the 42-centimeter guns being used by the Germans on their right wing exploded because the powder charge was too large, killing all the gunners and 250 other soldiers in the vicinity, the victims being blown to atoms.

Reports that the Germans are massing large numbers of troops on the eastern border are causing great uneasiness throughout Holland.

Australian warships have captured the German ship Komet off New Guinea. She was taken to Sidney, among those on board and made prisoners being the Governor-General of German New Guinea.

ATTEMPT TO SEIZE COAST FAILS.

It is claimed by military experts in Paris that the second big issue of the war, the attempted seizure of the North Sea coast by the Kaiser, has been frustrated. The first had been the attempt to capture Paris.

However, the outcome in the Western theatre of war, especially in the northern sphere of operations, is still in doubt, particularly so on account of the fresh troops with which both armies have been strengthened.

It is reported that more than 200,000 Germans are on their way to reinforce the Kaiser's army, and that a further effort will be made to carry out the Emperor's orders for the seizure of Dunkirk and Calais.

Dixmude, the quaint old Flemish town on the Yser, which has been the storm centre since the fighting began in West Flanders, has been destroyed. It was raked a dozen separate times by artillery fire. It was assailed alike by the cannon of the allies and those of the Germans. The most prominent edifice in the town, the Church of St. Nicholas, is a pile of ruins.

According to unofficial information, the Germans are falling back in Belgium. They were forced to give way, it is said, by furious bayonet charges. It is known that the Germans have been engaged for several days throwing up strong entrenchments, and it is presumed that if the invaders began a rearward movement it was for the purpose of occupying these works.

Official War Reports.

GERMAN.

German Coat of Arms.

BERLIN, Oct. 29.—Our troops continue to make gains in the Western theatre of war, though no decisive result has been attained on the Franco-Belgian front. Terrific losses have been sustained by the Belgians at Nieuport and their forces there have been replaced by French troops who continue to resist obstinately.

Fierce fighting continues on the front near Dixmude, where both sides continue their attacks and counter attacks both night and day. The Germans hold all positions they have taken.

The situation in the centre is unchanged, but along the Verdun-Toul front we are steadily forcing the enemy back. The French losses in this region are the heaviest they have suffered since the conflict opened.

In the Eastern theatre of war heavy fighting still continues in Galicia. On the Vistula front our troops have taken up new positions, having withdrawn successfully from superior Russian forces brought up to reinforce the enemy's line. The Russians were unable to pursue our troops because of the heavy losses they suffered in the German attacks.

The situation about Lyck and along the East Prussian frontier is unchanged.

FRENCH.

French Coat of Arms.

PARIS, Oct. 29.—During yesterday (Wednesday) we made progress at several points on the line of battle, in particular around Ypres and to the south of Arras.

There is nothing new on the front from Nieuport to Dixmude.

Between the Aisne and the Argonne we have captured some of the enemy's trenches and none of the partial attacks attempted by the Germans have succeeded.

We have likewise advanced in the forest of Apremont.

To Make Hairs Vanish From Face, Neck or Arms

Keep a little powdered delatone handy and when hairy growths appear make a paste with some of the powder and a little water, then spread over hairy surface. After 2 or 3 minutes rub off, wash the skin and it will be entirely free from hair or blemish. This simple treatment is unfailing, but care should be exercised to be sure and get genuine delatone, otherwise you may be disappointed.—ADVERTISEMENT.

British Riddle Ostend Hotels

ROTTERDAM, Oct. 29.—When an English vessel bombarded Ostend on Friday, says the Nieuwe Rotterdamsche Courant, there was a temporary panic. Germans bolted from their positions on the sea dyke and civilians fled to the cellars.

The shooting lasted only a few minutes, but made holes in three hotels. Two military officers, one medical and one marine officer, are said to have been killed.

WAR PERSONALS AND SIDELIGHTS

PRINCE SIEGHARD of Schoenaich-Carolath, a cousin of Prince Johann Karl, present head of the house, has been wounded and taken prisoner. Prince Sieghard is a lieutenant in the Prussian Guard.

M. MAX, former burgomaster of Brussels, is still being held in Leipzig by the German officials. His refusal to turn over to the invaders the fire department tower and ladders led to his arrest.

CROWN PRINCE RUPPRECHT OF BAVARIA, brother of the Belgian Queen, who is commanding the sixth German army corps, has issued an order to his soldiers to "Take reprisals for the cunning of the English and for all our sacrifices when we now meet them."

BRAND WHITLOCK, the American minister to Belgium, is given the credit for saving the cathedral, art galleries, churches, theatres and public buildings in Antwerp during the bombardment.

MISS JULIA B. HILL of Wollaston, sister of Mrs. William E. Hingston, wife of the handwriting expert, has at last reached London with other American refugees from Brussels.

MISS ILSE MERTIN, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Rudolph Mertin of Roslindale, has returned home with a fund of first-hand news relating to the war from Germany's point of view. She has been studying music in Germany for a year.

TRUCE ON BIRTHDAY.

BRUSSELS, Oct. 29.—Near Courtrai, the French signalled the German soldiers:

"This is our colonel's birthday."

The Germans passed the word along the trenches and replied:

"We won't shoot much today; let the colonel enjoy the day."

RICH GIVE BLOOD.

PARIS, Oct. 28.—No sooner had an appeal for volunteers to give blood to the wounded appeared than volunteers presented themselves, and Dr. Alexis Carrel of the Rockefeller Institute was able to save several patients. There are 120 names at the Hotel Dieu, representing rich and poor with blood to give.

WALES DISOWNS DANCE.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 29. — The British embassy has issued a statement in denial of the announcement the Prince of Wales was honorary sponsor of a ball to be held in New York for the benefit of the bereaved families and wounded soldiers in England.

1,500,000 BRITONS DRILL.

LONDON, Oct. 29.—The British army on rolls and drilling in the United Kingdom now amounts to 1,500,000 men. About 800,000 belong to "Kitchener's army"—men who have responded to his two calls for soldiers to serve three years or for the duration of the war. About 600,000 belong to the territorials.

FOOD FOR BELGIANS.

LONDON, Oct. 29.—The Dutch steamship Coblenz has sailed for Rotterdam with the first 1,000 tons of food purchased by the American commission for the relief of the Belgian people.

12, IN 3 BATTLES.

PARIS, Oct. 29.—The boy telling this claims to be the youngest soldier in France:

"I am 12 years old. My name is Paul Waterlin. I hid in a troop train, which took me to Namur. There I picked up a wounded man's rifle and fought in the trenches. Col. De B— ordered that a horse be given me. Since then I have been through the battles of Denain, Meaux and the Marne, and I am going north again soon."

KILLS 30 IN 5 MINUTES.

IN NORTHERN FRANCE, Oct. 29.—Near Lille a dragoon marksman was stationed at a swinging bridge with two comrades to load for him. Altogether he killed thirty Germans in less than five minutes and retired with his comrades. In the evening the colonel embraced this wonderful marksman before all his comrades, kissing him on both cheeks

Plan to Hurl Shells Across the Channel

ROTTERDAM, Oct. 29.—The Germans now state they will mount 52-centimetre guns on Cape Gris-Nez and then bombard Dover and Folkestone.

Three such weapons have been reported in the neighborhood of Liege on their way to the front. They appear to be the "fresh surprise for England" about which the Germans have talked so much since the beginning of the war.

FOR DANDRUFF, FALLING HAIR OR ITCHY SCALP—25 CENT DANDERINE

Girls! Girls! Save your hair! Make it grow luxuriant and beautiful.

If you care for heavy hair, that glistens with beauty and is radiant with life; has an incomparable softness and is fluffy and lustrous, try Danderine.

Just one application doubles the beauty of your hair, besides it immediately dissolves every particle of dandruff; you cannot have nice, heavy, healthy hair if you have dandruff. This destructive scurf robs the hair of its lustre, its strength and its very life, and if not overcome it produces a feverishness and itching of the scalp; the hair roots famish, loosen and die; then the hair falls out fast.

If your hair has been neglected and is thin, faded, dry, scraggy or too oily, get a 25 cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine at any drug store or toilet counter; apply a little as directed and ten minutes after you will say this was the best investment you ever made.

We sincerely believe, regardless of everything else advertised, that if you desire soft, lustrous, beautiful hair and lots of it—no dandruff—no itching scalp and no more falling hair—you must use Knowlton's Danderine. If eventually—why not now?—ADVERTISEMENT.

BIG BUSINESS OPPORTUNITY AT HAND, SAYS GARY

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Oct. 29.—Financial and industrial improvement within the next three months was predicted here today by Robert H. Gary, chairman of the board of the United States Steel Corporation, in his opening address at the meeting of the American Iron & Steel Institute, of which he is president.

"Without particularizing, it would seem safe to predict that in many important respects business conditions in the United States for the next three months will be better than they have been for the past three months," said Judge Gary.

"As to the long future, I do not hesitate to say with emphasis that the opportunities for progress and success in this country are greater than ever before. I am an optimist in principle as well as in practice.

"However, nothing is to be gained by closing our eyes to well known and clearly recognized facts, and at present we are not very prosperous in our lines.

"If we can get out of the ruts of antagonism, inconsistency, distrust, hypocrisy, individual indifference to the rights and interests of others, which seem to have prevented natural and legitimate progress during the past few years, so that the people generally will disregard undue personal ambition and will work together, joining hands for the protection and promotion of the welfare of all alike, having a disposition to utilize to the best advantage the privileges which this country affords, it will only be a question of time, and short at that, when the United States will be firmly established as the leading country of the world. Times and conditions are auspicious. The United States with its vast wealth and resources should be the financial, industrial and commercial centre of the world."

Judge Gary gave it as his opinion that the European war resulted from the struggle for commercial supremacy—or this, at least, had a decided influence upon its precipitation. He spoke of maintaining peace through international arbitration, saying in this respect:

"All that I have just said applies forcibly to our business. We who are here today are engaged in competition; we are naturally selfish; we are often inconsiderate and indifferent. It was customary in days gone by to harbor the same feelings and nurse the same line of conduct in the iron and steel trade that have been exhibited in the European conflict. The graves of concerns destroyed were numerous. Today I congratulate you upon our success in bringing about a new order of things in business. You have become well acquainted; you have confidence in each other. You have a better and clearer understanding of business obligations."

350 ERRAND GIRLS TO BE GUESTS AT JOLLY HALLOWE'EN PARTY

Mrs. Jeanette H. Casler of Allston, who will give Hallowe'en Party for 350 errand girls.

Three hundred and fifty little, light hearted errand girls, who are employed in dressmaking establishments, department stores and various other business houses, will be guests of Mrs. Jeanette H. Casler at a Hallowe'en party at No. 79 Gardner street, Allston, at 8 o'clock, Saturday evening.

Mrs. Casler has requested that each girl attend the party with an escort. Her object in holding this function is to give the little ones an evening of real pleasure and entertainment.

Mrs. Casler declares that many of the errand girls in the Boston stores do not know what splendid enjoyment one may have in the world. She says that a large number of them do not even have an opportunity to have a little harmless recreation.

Household duties, the care of the young members of the family and in some cases responsibilities even greater than their elders have to contend with, rest heavily on the shoulders of a big proportion of these girls who are only children themselves.

Mrs. Casler says these girls desire to enjoy themselves like other children in more fortunate circumstances but they are unable to gratify their wishes.

Dainty Hallowe'en card have been sent to each of Mrs. Casler's young friends. These pretty invitations have aroused the spirit of the girls and they assert that they will do everything in their power to make the event a tremendous success.

The evening's program will be started with an organ recital by Professor Joseph C. Idone and Harold Reynolds.

The girls will then take charge of events and play games and make merry in true Hallowe'en style. Those that are versed in fancy dances will give exhibitions for the benefit of their co-workers.

Longworth's Sister Praises French Spirit

PARIS, Oct. 29.—An interesting letter showing the martial spirit pervading the French has been received by Countess de Chambrun, sister of former Congressman Nicholas Longworth of Cincinnati, O., from her husband, who was formerly French military attache at Washington. Count de Chambrun, who is an artillery officer, writes as follows: "I am now having great pleasure in directing the artillery fire against our own chateau and I take great enjoyment in seeing it shattered bit by bit." The chateau, which is located near St. Mihiel, had been occupied by Germans. It is the centre of a furious struggle which has been in progress for more than a month.

Social Work Classes Will Meet at Night

The School for Social Workers at No. 18 Somerset street, has changed the time for its course for general training in social work from afternoon to the evening in order that those who work may attend the classes. The price of the course has been reduced from $40 to $25. The school is maintained by Simmons College and Harvard University.

HANGS HIMSELF WHEN HIS APPLE CROP IS RUINED

David Dunham, a Danvers farmer, committed suicide by hanging himself in his barn as a result of despondency believed to have been due to his arrest on a theft charge and a second misfortune in the blighting of his apple crop by the frost.

Dunham laughed and chatted with his wife and five children at the supper table last night. Then suddenly he burst into tears.

"What's the matter?" asked his wife.

"Oh, you'll know before morning," he said.

The meal over, Dunham went out to the barn. When he did not return, his wife went to look for him. She found his body hanging from a rafter. Dunham was forty-eight. Last week he was arrested on a charge of stealing poultry, but was acquitted.

Boston Concern Wins Dairy Medal

CHICAGO, Oct. 29.—Every New England State was represented at a dinner given at the Saddle and Sirloin Club to the New England delegates to the Dairy Show. H. P. Hood & Sons were awarded the gold medal at the milk exhibit in connection with the dairy show. There were 102 entrees from the United States and Canada. The score was 98.4 per cent. perfect. This firm has won honors, too, at other milk exhibits, including those at Rochester, N. Y., Amherst, Mass., and Brockton.

Conservatory Girl in Symphony Concert

Laeta Hartley, New England Conservatory of Music, 1900, has been invited by Dr. Karl Muck to play with the Boston Symphony Orchestra at its Cambridge concert of November 12. She will perform a MacDowell sonata. Miss Hartley, who was for several years a pupil of Carl Stasny, won in her senior year a medal for excellence in sight playing.

Goes to Blaze with His Hair Half Cut

SOUTHBRIDGE, Oct. 29.—The driver of the auto chemical was having his hair cut when the fire alarm was sounded for a blaze in the barn of Frank Shepard and responded to the call with half of his head clipped.

Our problem today, sir, is a strange one—

—Nothing less than to make you believe this advertisement.

It does tax a man's business sense to believe without proof that actual, bona fide $25 to $35 men's overcoats are being sold for $15.50.

If you really believed that duplicates of the coats that have just reached us are being sold at retail for $25, $30 and even $35—that we are going to sell them at $15.50—and make a few pennies at that—what would you do—pass them up?—or wouldn't you—in the language of the day—at least give them the "once over"?

We say to you—man to man—that the coats advertised here are worth all we say they are—that the facts are understated rather than overstated.

Of course there's a good business reason for selling new overcoats at ½ price.

We'll lay bare the simple "inside" of the transaction.

The Garson-Meyer Co. of Rochester, N. Y., are consolidating with Levy Bros.' Clothing Co. of the same city. (Incidentally Garson-Meyer Co. have been making men's clothing for 37 years.) When concerns consolidate, what they seek is the combination of good will and money—not stock on hand. Hence it is not unnatural that they should be willing to take losses in order to start with a clean slate.

Our buyer went to Rochester this week and closed a good trade for them—for us—and for you.

He bought the surplus stock of Garson, Meyer & Co.'s and Levy Bros.' Clothing Co.'s

Men's $25 to $35 Overcoats Which we now offer you FOR $15.50

These overcoats are the approved overcoat style for men this season.

They include:

Balmacaans
The "Big Sleeve" Coats
Double Breasted Fitted Coats
Chesterfield Overcoats
Ulsters, Box Coats
Dashy Coats
Conservative Coats

You may choose from Chinchillas, Boucles, Shetlands, Cheviots, Meltons, Vicunas, Kerseys and Tweeds, including many coats

Boston Women Join Niece of President in War to Save Girls from Flirts

SUFFRAGISTS' AID FOR NEW 'MASHER' LAW

Massachusetts suffragists may shortly take up an educational campaign to show Boston and Massachusetts women and girls how to protect themselves against "mashers" under the new "Accosting Law" which went into effect August 3.

Mrs. Thomas Pelham Curtis of No. 447 Beacon street, one of the best known suffragists in the State, has just returned from a trip through the South, where she spoke for suffrage on the Chautauqua circuit, and she said today:

"I expect to get in touch with suffrage headquarters tomorrow, and I shall certainly suggest that we do our part to enforce and to help the police enforce this excellent law."

The measure reads in part as follows:

"Persons who with offensive or disorderly language accost or annoy in public places persons of the opposite sex may be punished"—and so on. The penalties range from a small fine to six months' imprisonment.

AND WOMEN, TOO.

"I'm glad it applies to women 'mashers' as well as men 'mashers,'" said Mrs. Curtis. "My own experience has always been, even as a girl, that if one minds one's own business no one will pay any attention to you.

"But times have changed since I was a girl, no doubt. My friends tell me—and I heard a great deal of this last Winter—that they do not allow their daughters to go through the Public Garden or the Common because so many men lurk there and the girls are apt to be annoyed.

"That is a shame; for the Garden is so delightful. The condition should be remedied.

"Of course the police cannot enforce this law without our help. A masher can only be convicted—as Mrs. Howe showed in New York—when a woman will testify against him. She said, 'If every woman would have the courage to send at least one masher to jail, cities would soon be freed of this despicable evil.'

MUST DO OUR SHARE.

"That is most true. But it is also true that young girls cannot be expected to be willing to testify in court. The experience would be most unpleasant. The burden and duty of enforcing this law must rest on older women—who should be glad to do their part because they realize that by so doing they protect their own daughters.

"My daughter is almost sixteen, and my two sons are fourteen and twelve years old. My daughter rarely goes down town alone. To make the whole city perfectly safe for her, as well as for my two boys, I am going to do my share, and I hope other women will do likewise. I became a suffragist because I wished to better public conditions for my children's sake. But here is work we can do even without the vote. And we should take the chance offered and do our part."

MRS. HOWE MAY SUE DR. WHITE, NEW YORK FLIRT

NEW YORK, Oct. 29.—"If this unmentionable cad, Dr. White, adds slander to the insult he has already thrust upon me I shall sue to have him punished as far as the law will permit."

Mrs. George Howe, wife of President Wilson's nephew and known to the stage as Margaret Vale, thus outlined her plan of countering the effort of Dr. White to have reversed the ten-days-in-the-workhouse sentence imposed upon him by Magistrate Breen for accosting and insulting Mrs. Howe on Broadway.

While from the offices of his attorney, Frederick Durgan, White declared that he had ample proof that he had met Mrs. Howe in Paris and that he was not forcing his attentions upon a stranger. He is out on $500 bail, awaiting the decision of Judge Rosalsky, who will decide within a fortnight whether White may have a rehearing.

"I can prove that I have been in the company of Mrs. Howe within six months and near Paris," declared White. "I shall bring one of the most widely known women opera stars to prove we have been friends."

Mrs. Howe has written a letter to Judge Rosalsky, who admitted White to bail and who is considering the man's petition for a rehearing. The letter reads:

> Having learned of an appeal filed by Dr. Ernest C. White, who was sentenced by Magistrate Breen to ten days in the workhouse for insulting me on Broadway, I desire to make this statement:
>
> Dr. White, in his appeal to you is quoted as saying he knew me before in Paris. This is untrue. Until Dr. White accosted me on Broadway last Monday afternoon I had never seen nor heard of him in Paris or anywhere else in the world. He was and is an entire stranger to me.
>
> He tried to force his acquaintance upon me in an insulting manner on Broadway and I had him arrested by a police officer to save myself from annoyance and also because it has been brought home to me and many of my personal friends and acquaintances that the streets of New York are infested by a class of men called mashers, who continually annoy, insult and endanger the safety of young, unattended women.

Ferdinand's Slayer Begins 20-Year Term

PARIS, Oct. 29.—A news agency dispatch from Trieste states that five men convicted of instigating the plot that resulted in the assassination of Archduke Francis Ferdinand, were executed at Sarajevo within twenty-four hours after they were found guilty, and that Gavrio Prinzip, the actual assassin, has been taken to prison to serve his twenty-year sentence.

SAGE TEA DARKENS HAIR TO ANY SHADE

Don't Stay Gray! Here's an Old-Time Recipe that Anybody can Apply.

The use of Sage and Sulphur for restoring faded, gray hair to its natural color dates back to grandmother's time. She used it to keep her hair beautifully dark, glossy and abundant. Whenever her hair fell out or took on that dull, faded or streaked appearance, this simple mixture was applied with wonderful effect.

But brewing at home is mussy and out-of-date. Nowadays, by asking at any drug store for a 50-cent bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," you will get this famous old recipe which can be depended upon to restore natural color and beauty to the hair and is splendid for dandruff, dry, feverish, itchy scalp and falling hair.

A well-known downtown druggist says it darkens the hair so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied. You simply dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears, and after another application or two, it becomes beautifully dark, glossy, soft and abundant.

'War Just Begun,' Declares Fallieres

PARIS, Oct. 29.—That the war is only beginning is the opinion expressed by Armand Fallieres, ex-President of France.

"Months and months," M. Fallieres says, "will be required to overcome the military power of the enemy, but we shall certainly be victorious, for without reckoning our ardent patriotism and our inexhaustible moral and material resources, we have on our side Russia and Great Britain, with their strength and tenacity, and Belgium as well as Servia. We possess the moral support of humanity which loves the ideal of liberty."

CANCEL POSTAL ORDER SYSTEM WITH MEXICO

A general order from the Post-office Department reached Postmaster Murray today announcing that all money order relations with Mexico are cancelled.

The order states that Mexico cancelled the relations.

The cancellation took effect October 26. Money orders to Mexico are not to be issued, and money orders from Mexico are not to be cashed.

It is supposed that Mexico cancelled money order relations because of unsettled conditions there and because no Mexican leader wished to be responsible for money order funds.

Richard Norton Organizes U. S. Motor Ambulance

LONDON, Oct. 29.—Richard Norton, son of the late Professor Charles Eliot Norton of Harvard, who saw many pitiable instances of wounded men left on the battlefields in France and Belgium for long hours owing to the limited ambulance service, has organized a new American volunteer motor ambulance for the rapid transfer of the wounded to hospitals.

The corps is affiliated with the St. John Ambulance Association of the British Red Cross. Already the first unit has ten car-bearers, mostly American college men. The first party sent includes Arthur Kemp of New York, D. P. Starr, W. J. Oaklan of Harvard, W. R. Berry of Princeton, W. P. Clyde, Jr., and Alan Loney of New York.

Norton accompanied the first unit to France but will return shortly to organize further units. Americans are invited to help the work with subscriptions, which Brown, Shipley & Co., New York bankers, will accept and transmit.

White Feather for the Stay-at-Homes

WINDSOR, Ont., Oct. 29.—The young society women of Windsor, Ont., are making life miserable for timid young men who have not offered their services in the war. The girls swooped down on department stores, factories and offices and decorated every young man under thirty that was found at work with a white feather.

What Cadum Is Made Of

Cadum, the well-known remedy for Eczema and other skin troubles, is one of the very few preparations sold in drug stores that is not secret. A list of its ingredients is printed upon every box. One ingredient is oil of cade, which is recognized by doctors as being one of the best things known for Eczema. Another ingredient is zinc oxide, which dries up the water that forms upon sore places on the skin. Two other ingredients are petrolatum and white wax, which make a covering to protect these sore spots from the air and water. A trial box of Cadum can be secured in any drugstore for 10c, but it is cheaper to buy the 25c size, as it contains nearly four times as much as the 10c box.

NANCE GWYNN TIES GOODWIN IN CUPID RACE

Nance Gwynn's Record In Matrimonial Race

PAST.

Husband No. 1—David Stuart, died.

No. 2—Eric Traffordwye, chum of No. 1, died.

No. 3—Thomas Caffrey, who pursued her two years. He divorced her.

No. 4—Charles H. Williams, former English army man. She divorced him.

PRESENT

No. 5-to-be—Collins Suter Hill of Capetown, whom she met on honeymoon with No. 4.

FUTURE

Nos. 6 and 7—Fortune teller predicted she would have seven husbands, but Miss Gwynn says she's so completely in love now that No. 5 will be her last.

Nance Gwynn, who by planning to marry a fifth time, ties Nat Goodwin in matrimonial race, and passes De Wolf Hopper. She was

NEW YORK, Oct. [illegible]—Nance Gwynn [illegible] to wed again, [illegible] her fifth [illegible] Nat Goodwin [illegible] passing De Wolf Hopper [illegible] the matrimonial race.

ONE AFTER ANOTHER.

My first husband was David Stuart. [illegible] I was the merest [illegible] month before [illegible]. He was a friend [illegible] engaged [illegible] before I married him. [illegible] boy and girl affairs [illegible] grandfather died [illegible] $[illegible] to be given to me on my wedding day. I was awfully [illegible] to travel and it was just [illegible] to get married and get that money.

We started round the world on our honeymoon [illegible] Hong Kong [illegible] who [illegible] husband.

[illegible] laughing [illegible] face. He grabbed [illegible] out of [illegible] hotel. 'I'd like to see [illegible] with any other husband but me!' he ground out. And two months later the poor boy was dead.

Then I married his chum, Erik Traffordwyr, because he said somebody ought to take care of me. But he didn't live long either. You see, both my first husbands were in the Boer War and I think their constitutions were permanently weakened.

'I just made up my mind I wouldn't ever marry anybody any more. I seemed to be a hoodoo on husbands. But on the way out to Australia I met Thomas Caffrey, an Irishman, and such a dear! I said, half in joke, 'If I ever marry anybody I'll marry you.' For two years he followed me over the world on the strength of that joke remark and finally he caught up with me in New York. I simply had to reward such perseverance.

I was divorced from him, however

Murray Butler Raps Dr. Munsterberg

PARIS, Oct. 29.—Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler, president of Columbia University, in a letter to the Temps, says: "The propaganda on behalf of Germany in the United States is being conducted furiously, but with little effect. As promoted by Count Bernsdorff and Professor Munsterberg, it was exaggerated and manufactured to a degree that was ridiculous."

To Import Belgian Women to Solve Servant Problem

WASHINGTON, Oct. 29.—A nation-wide movement is on foot to solve the American "servant problem" by importing Belgian women for domestics. The immigration laws do not prohibit contracting for domestic or personal labor.

Inquiries have come from Georgia, North Carolina, South Carolina, Tennessee, New York and Massachusetts.

Bernstorff Beats Time to 'Tipperary'

NEW YORK, Oct. 29.—Count von Bernstorff, German Ambassador at Washington, probably did not [illegible] but for a few minutes [illegible] he was beating time [illegible] strains of "It's a Long Way to Tipperary."

Women only to See Mandot and Stewart Fight

KALAMAZOO, Mich., Oct. 29.—Joe Mandot and Hal Stewart have agreed to stage the first boxing exhibition ever given in America exclusively for women. The bout will take place on the afternoon of November 18 and will be free of charge. The exhibition will precede the ten-round go which has been scheduled for the evening of that date.

The boxers will appear in gymnasium suits and show the women just what a real boxing match is like. An orchestra will be engaged for the afternoon.

MAKE YOUR OWN HAIR STAIN

This Home Made Mixture Darkens Gray Hair and Makes It Soft and Glossy.

To a half pint of water add
Bay Rum . . . . . . 1 oz
Barbo Compound . . . . . a small box
Glycerine . . . . . ¼ oz

These are all simple ingredients that you can buy from any druggist at very little cost, and mix them yourself. Apply to the scalp once a day for two weeks, then once every other week until all the mixture is used. A half pint should be enough to rid the head of dandruff and kill the dandruff germs. It stops the hair from falling out, relieves itching and scalp diseases.

Although it is not a dye, it acts upon the hair roots and will darken streaked, faded gray hair in ten or fifteen days. It promotes the growth of the hair and makes harsh hair soft and glossy.

MAULTBETSCH and Catlett are two shifty halfbacks who would be welcomed by any col- lege team in the country. Both are fine all-around football play- ers. Catlett can carry the punt- ing game if necessary. He gets the ball away quicker than Splawn, but the other fellow beats him all hollow for dis- tance.

MAULTBETSCH, Staatz, Hug- hitt, Splawn, Rehor, these are hard names to remember and write. We wish the Michigan game were over.

THE Harvard management re- quests that we call attention to the fact that the Michigan game Saturday will begin at 2:45, although the tickets and adver- tising up to this time have named 2 o'clock as the hour.

This change is necessary be- cause of the ruling of the [illegible] ulty that only November games could be started at 2 o'clock.

HARVARD SQUAD GIVEN STRENUOUS PRACTICE IN MICHIGAN GAME

HARVARD TRIES OUT NEW LINE

Michigan Eleven Arrives Today

Michigan's hopeful carload of football cripples arrives today for the Harvard game on Saturday. Twenty-four players make up the squad.

A trainload of students and alumni rooters from Ann Arbor, Chicago and Detroit will reach here in time to attend the big Michigan mass meeting Friday night.

By AL.

Harvard's busy varsity football team, pronounced by the coaches in perfect trim for the Michigan game, will have a short scrimmage this afternoon with the seconds, as a final preparatory workout for the Wolverines.

In the practice yesterday the regulars got to working together in splendid form and with Logan acting as directing general went through scores of intricate plays with never the sign of a [illegible] or a hold up.

Though Mahan, Hardwick and Logan have been out of the game for several weeks all three of them seem to be in very good shape and can go along with the other members of the eleven with [illegible] exertion.

The practice yesterday [illegible] a wide variety of trick plays, more than have yet been tried on any single day previously this season.

The same plan will be followed today, as Coach Haughton has had just about enough of the last minute fancy stuff to suit him.

WALLACE ONLY REGULAR SHY.

The [illegible] who could not get into the work yesterday was Wallace, [illegible] wrenched [illegible] a bit Tuesday and was compelled to take a short rest. He will be at work [illegible] however.

There was one shift in the [illegible] that [illegible] regarded as rather significant for Elkins was put at tackle in place of Parsons, after the [illegible] had been going on for [illegible] time.

He worked with [illegible] and [illegible]. Trumbull and Parsons are listed to start against the Michiganers, the big sub will be chased in if either of the pair show any signs of weakening.

Francke, Bradlee and Mahan in the backfield ripped the second line to pieces. The three of them got away quickly and [illegible] the perfect interference [illegible] one of the strong points of Harvard elevens in recent years.

BIGELOW LANDS AT CENTRE.

Bigelow, who has been shifted around between guard and tackle has finally been declared a good man for the centre work. He had his first real trial there yesterday while Wallace was resting and was good on passing and on the defence.

While no regular game was played the two teams had plenty of work for the varsity was worked out on both offence and defence in long stretches against the second.

The same plan will be followed out today though the scrimmages will be much shorter.

Tomorrow's work will consist mostly of signal practice though a little scrimmaging may be in order for some of the men who may be considered not quite in trim for a hard game.

In the forward pass work Logan was elected to do the heaving and he showed that his arm or eye had not lost any cunning while he has been on the hospital list.

MAHAN TO DO PUNTING.

The second team used a lot of forward passes while they were rushing the [illegible] this play is expected to be one of the big parts of the Michigan offence. The regulars, however, smeared all efforts at getting away with the erratic toss in very satisfactory fashion.

Eddie Mahan was given the role of punter for the first team and got away [illegible] long high kicks. It is almost certain that he will do the booting in the Michigan game, though Francke, the new fullback, is a close second, and if he keeps on improving he will soon surpass his more experienced fellow back.

Doyle Has a New Baseball Ailment

NEW YORK, Oct. 29.—Larry Doyle, the [illegible] has a brand new ailment. Baseball players [illegible] have had water on the knee, but Larry is the first player known to have water on the shoulder. That's the alibi for Larry's poor work during the past season.

Remember last year Larry, driving his new motor car flirted with a full grown tree on Boston post road?

Doyle went to a specialist the other day and learned that he had water on the shoulder. He submitted himself to an operation and thinks by next season he will be able to go in and hit that old ball at a .300 clip again.

Gore Hall-Eliot Win Harvard Races

The contest between the freshmen crews for the Slocum cup in the Harvard crew regatta was won by Gore Hall. The Standish Hall was second and Smith Hall third.

The second heat of the race for the college cup which is the prize for which the two clubs, Eliot and Thayer, are contending, was won by a good length by the third Eliot crew.

MICHIGAN MEN PLAN A LIVELY TIME IN BOSTON

The special train containing the Michigan contingent that is coming here for the Harvard-Michigan football game arrives from Detroit and the West at 2:30 tomorrow. It will be met at the South Station by the Boston [illegible]. Headed by the University of Michigan student band, they will parade to the Copley Plaza, which will be Michigan headquarters.

There will be a smoker Friday evening in the ball room of the Copley-Plaza for all Michigan men. Ladies will [illegible] in the balcony. The program will consist of songs, yells, [illegible] moving pictures of Ann Arbor and the team and rousing talks by the alumni.

Former Attorney General James M. Swift will be master of ceremonies for the evening. Other speakers will be Dean Mortimer M. Cooley of the engineering department at Ann Arbor, Rep. James O. Martin of Detroit, Rev. William [illegible] Day of Cleveland, Judge Robert F. Thompson of Canandaigua, N. Y., and Coach Yost. [illegible] the latter, will lead the yells.

The Harvard management has furnished the following statistics of the Michigan team:

Cornell Develops New Quarterback

ITACA, N. Y., Oct. 29.—A number of Cornell varsity players who had not been in the lineup before this week were sent into the scrimmage yesterday by Head Coach Sharpe, but despite the strengthening of the first team the second eleven scored a touchdown though the varsity got two.

The development of a promising new quarterback in Collins is a feature of the practice this week. Collins has been running the second team most of the time this fall but his work is of such a high order that many believe he will soon make a position in the varsity backfield.

BOXER ORDERED TO START WORK

MILWAUKEE, Oct. 29.—The Queensbury Athletic Club, which has promoted the White-Welsh fight for November 9, has served notice to Charley White to begin training at once, or it would be understood that his refusal to fight with the weight at 135 pounds at 3 o'clock is a refusal to live up to his articles of agreement and that the club would at once begin action against him before the State Boxing Commission.

Army Team Has Two Hours of Practice

WEST POINT, Oct. 28.—Head Coach Daly worked the Army squad for two hours in drill. The big team go forty minutes of rough work with the scrubs and scored twice. All the regulars were in their places except McEwan [illegible] Coffman was at the pivotal job until he was hurt and had to give way to Bradley.

Bradley has been trying out for tackle, but was sent to the centre today where he did well. Oliphant got in the scrimmage long enough to hurt his leg again, and then he was yanked out in a hurry. Meacham was also injured.

Indians Improve at Forward Passing

CARLISLE, Pa., Oct. 29.—The Carlisle Indian football squad was kept up to its stiff pace of work at fundamentals in practice. As in the past few days, the Indian coaches specialized on exercises at handling the ball and [illegible]. At the subsequent signal practice the redskins tried a wide variety of open plays. Forward passing improved, and Carlisle will probably be strong in this department against Syracuse at Buffalo on Saturday.

Penn Coaches Work on Offensive Tactics

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Oct. 29.—Pennsylvania's football coach devoted the entire practice to an effort to correct the points of the varsity offense.

The scrubs were used for this purpose and the varsity had the ball the entire time.

TWO STARS OUT OF THE LINEUP AT HOLY CROSS

WORCESTER, Oct. 29.—Capt. Walter Mullen of the Holy Cross team has played his last game for the Purple. In a scrimmage with the second team he received an [illegible] to his jaw which will confine him to the hospital for a week or more and will prevent him from partaking in any more contests for his college on the gridiron.

His loss will be keenly felt, for his passing at quarterback was always a feature in Holy Cross games and his defence was the equal of any of the football men of today.

Although the fracture was a severe one, still Mullen will in a short time be able to give aid to his team in coaching a man to fill the position made vacant by his loss.

Mark Devlin, who filled in at quarterback in the West Point game, is directing the team's play and in all probability will remain at that position for the rest of the season.

Today the team was put through a hard, fast scrimmage in which a new back formation was tried out with Murphy playing fullback and Piley, the former Boston College High star, directing the second team's attack against it.

From this practice Finn, the right end, was removed to the hospital with a broken collar bone.

2 Back Fields New Plan of Navy Coaches

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Oct. 29.—The Navy coaches appear to be developing two back fields, one suitable for the smashing, line-breaking game and the other more adapted to the fast running game.

To make up the former, big [illegible] was brought back from the scrub where he has been for the past week and with Blodgett, H. Harrison and Miles made up a back field which averaged about 180 pounds.

Later Collins and Alexander, two of the fastest men in the squad, were at the halves for some time. No regular scrimmage was held, but the teams lined up against each other and a number of plays were tried out against the opposing line.

Harvard Runners Leave for Ithaca to Meet Cornell

The Harvard cross-country team of eleven runners starts for Ithaca tonight, where they run their first race against Cornell.

[illegible] men will be entered in the race, but only the first seven of each team will be scored at the finish.

The men who will take the trip are: A. R. Bancroft, '17, B. S. Carter, [illegible] L. S. Cook, '17, R. H. Davison, [illegible] W. Edgar, '18, K. E. Fuller, '16, W. W. Kent, capt., '16, H. G. STALLINGS IS AT HIS BEST IN OPEN AIR

NEW YORK, Oct. 29.—"I have about come to the conclusion that I'm not [illegible] oratory, [illegible] the open air," said George Stallings today, speaking of his debut in vaudeville.

"Nervous? You bet I was nervous and say I never walk out on a ball field if I had to in the presence of [illegible] I never think anything of it. After the last game of the World's series in Boston I made a little speech to three or four times as many people as there were in the Palace, but I never felt a tremor while up there on the stage, in front of those dazzling lights I was almost scared. I thought I would be all right after the matinee performance but I still had that trembly feeling.

"I went up to Troy not long ago to see Johnny Evers and saw the wonderful reception they had given him and I had to make a speech. While I [illegible] orator down [illegible] home [illegible] it's a lot different [illegible] stage presence. And you can bet on one thing — if the price of cotton wasn't what it is, I don't think I would last very long in vaudeville, although the audiences have treated me fine."

All things considered, the "Chief" has done well. He prepared what he had to say on very short notice, but when he gets warmed up he will be a regular monologist.

Johansen-Perelli in Battle on Mat

Einer Johansen, the crack Norwegian heavyweight wrestler, is in grand shape for his meeting with John Perelli, the Italian, at the Grand Opera House this evening and every indication is that the session will be one of the warmest that has been staged in Boston this season. The match is scheduled to a finish, best two out of three falls.

In addition to these cars we have a great many 1913 and 1914 Buicks, also 1912-1913-1914 cars of other makes which we will simply sacrifice.

You may rest assured we would not spend the money required to advertise in the various Boston newspapers if we were not FORCED to sell these cars.

The demand for new Buicks for the past two years as well as [illegible] has been ENORMOUS. We do not blame owners of old cars for wanting to trade in their autos for new Buicks. However, on the other hand, we are forced to find an outlet for the cars traded in. Therefore:

This Sale Will Go Down in History as Being the Biggest Sacrifice Ever Made on Second-Hand Cars

Terms on good references.

The attached affidavit, sworn to by the manager of our company, will prove conclusively that our intentions are to MOVE these cars regardless of what they bring.

AFFIDAVIT BY MANAGEMENT

I, the undersigned, do solemnly swear that ALL SECOND-HAND cars in the possession of the Buick Boston Company will be sacrificed this week, if sold immediately, in accordance with this affidavit, at from $50 to $150 less than ever before offered.

A Bachelor's Diary

In This Last Chapter Max Ceases to Be a Bachelor and Says Farewell to His Friend, Diary

By MAX

SEPTEMBER 28—

Marian and Rex have set Wednesday, October 7, as their wedding day. They say they see no reason to wait for months to claim their happiness, and, besides, they want to go off in his big gray racer for a tour of the mountains while the glowing, colorful Fall days last. They are going to have a simple little home wedding, but there are to be two attendants. Manette is to be maid of honor and I best man. The child giggles merrily at the thought of walking down the flower-decked aisle on my arm—but it makes me realize how alone and lonely I am. Not all the love of my dear little niece can make up for the tender devotion of the "one woman" in all the world.

Darrow and Josephine are giving a dinner to the bridal party. Marian's mother and brother will be there, Manette and I, two of Rex's married sisters and the two bridal couples. And I dread it!

September 30—

The dinner was a delight, and it turned into a wedding, for just before we sat down dear old Dr. Symes came into the room and remarried Josephine Darrow and her husband. Manette fluttered with joy and when I found myself giving the bride to Darrow while the child strewed flowers in their reunited paths, I fairly glowed with two emotions—joy for the happy and a longing for a little happiness of my own.

There is no getting away from it, Friend Diary, altruism generally wants a little personal glow of happiness to top off its delight at some one else's joy!

Now I have wandered through life for eight-and-thirty years and have seen and admired many women—even imagining that there were those for whom I cared deeply enough to want one of them as my wife. But there has never been one for whom I longed with the sheer craving even to get one cabled word that now possesses me in the midst of all rejoicing and makes me dream only of Kathleen Greenick. And I know that the gentle way in which she told me that she would stay in Paris with her father meant more than mere filial devotion. It meant that she did not want to hurt me in telling me that there was no hope for me and my love of her.

I'm afraid that I shall be a regular skeleton at the marriage feast of Rex and Maid Marian.

THE WEDDING DAY

October 7—Today is Maid Marian's wedding day. It is bright and golden with the best wine of life that drafty old October knows how to brew. The leaves are gay with crimson and golden life seems to mock this lonely old bachelor.

I know what a fussy old chap I am, because of my agitation about Manette's bridesmaid dress. Of course I have tried to keep her a child. But that makes it none the less unsuitable for her to walk up the aisle ahead of the bride in a simple muslin frock that comes no whit below her shoe tops.

I feel as if that frock were almost an insult to the bride who has chosen my little ward to grace her wedding. And yesterday, when we rehearsed the procession, Manette fairly acted like a silly baby in her giggling and whispering to Marian and Rex. Goodheavens, I wish they had chosen the dear child to be a sweet little flower girl and had as maid of honor a woman who realized a little of the seriousness of a wedding. Jove: I just remember that a best man has a lot of duties and that no one of them is to keep his mind dwelling on his own sad and lonely state.

That wedding must be a splendid beautiful promise of all the happiness little Maid Marian is to know with her King.

I pledge you the bride, Friend Diary—and now off to the bachelor's part of the wedding feast!

October 8.

Friend Diary—I bid you farewell! You have been a good friend and true for years, but now you fail me and I must desert you. Want to know why? I shall not refuse you the explanation you deserve.

Once, long ago, Marian Church went to a fashionable school. Then came a crash and she turned to stenography after her father chose a bullet as a fitting period to a foolish and fateful speculation. She never talked about her "better days" or mentioned the friends she had known then. And of all those friends only one was loyal—her chum, with whom she had always corresponded and who knew of all her happinesses and sorrows. And that friend had always promised to be maid of honor at her wedding.

So while they fooled me with little flower girl Nanette as a partner at rehearsals, Kathleen Greenick was speeding to Holland and so across the seas in answer to a cable from Marian. And the father she would not desert was coming along to see if the man for whom she could not hide her longing still thought of her in spite of his silence. Jove! My bill for cables was $66—and think of the orchids and taxi drives that would have brought Kathy! Do you realize that the woman I love is Marian Church's one loyal, faithful friend?

FAREWELL, FRIEND DIARY

She's my Kathy now, Friend Diary—and that's why I have to desert you—for a benedict can't write the Diary of a Bachelor—can he?

It was all simple enough—they told me an old friend of Marian's had arrived and that Nanette had resigned in her favor and would be a flower girl. Of course, I didn't dream that that scapegrace niece of mine had been in the secret since the beginning. But then I didn't dream, either, that I stood all through the ceremony with dazed eyes that could see only Kathleen so near at hand and yet so maddeningly remote.

The bridegroom had an awful time getting me back to earth in time to give him the ring for the bride's finger. And when he told me to kiss the maid of honor, I couldn't. I never could have taken from Kathleen's lips a conventional kiss that she yielded only because she must.

But she kissed me! And then we were shoved into a little rose-hung den, and somehow I had Kathleen in my arms and—but I told you once, Friend Diary—there is not gong to be any Bachelor's diary for me evermore!

But Kathleen Mavourneen and I will keep you always, and as she reads the record of my bachelor days, I'm going to try to make her glad of the man I've come to be at last through all the blunderings and gropings you know so well.

Hail—and farewell, old friend!

No Snobbery

When young Bertie Bunn achieved the remarkable feat of living for twenty-one years, his fond parents decided to invite all their tenants to come to the house and overeat themselves.

The great night arrived, and, punctual to the minute, so did the guests. They were shown to their seats, and not till then was it noticed that old Gummersol, the father of the village, had not taken his seat on the right-hand of the hostess.

At once he was observed in a chair half-way down the table.

"Don't sit down there, Gummersol!" beamed her ladyship. "Your place is the seat of honor, beside me!"

Gummersol raised one eye.

"Thank 'ee, mum, but if it's all the same to you, I'll stay by this 'ere puddin'!"

HER HUSBAND'S WIDOW

A Thrilling Store of Romance, Adventure and Intrigue, in Which a Beautiful Young Bride Plays the Part of the Heroine

She sprang toward him with a stifled cry

(Dramatic translation, and all other rights secured. Copyright, U. S. A., 1913, by London Daily Mail. Serial rights in U. S. held by International News Service.)

CHAPTER X.—Continued.

FOLLOWING her little guide she descended a short, winding flight of steps. She found herself in a low cellar which had been originally a cave. In the dim light of the lamps a gilt star could be distinguished behind a grating in a niche in the rock. An inscription proclaimed that this was the actual birthplace of the Redeemer.

She came out on to the terrace with a sigh of relief. With some difficulty she got rid of the Bethlehem girl and stood leaning against the wall, gazing to the eastward. A single ray of sunlight pierced through the cloudy envelope and fell on the mountains of Moab, rising like a rampart beyond the Dead Sea.

She had almost forgotten what the world from which she had sprung was like. And now she felt a trapdoor shaking beneath her. She might disappear; her place might know her no more. She had not forgotten her passionate hatred of her former life. It would be like crawling painfully up the side of a well, only to slip back again just as her fingers clutched at the top.

Within the few hours that had elapsed since that fateful meeting in the Dome of the Rock she had had no time to consider it as other than a catastrophe. She had not attempted to analyze her feelings toward the two men involved. Involuntarily she had started on a comparison between them, when she turned and saw Victor about to enter the church. Fortunately he was alone.

She sprang toward him with a stifled cry, and laid her hand on his arm. He recognized her with a start of surprise. He paused and looked at her, obviously embarrassed and pained.

"I must speak to you," she said. "I came here on purpose."

They both turned toward the parapet of the terrace and stood side by side for a few seconds in silence. "I did not intend that we should meet again," he said at length, his eyes fixed on the distant mountains.

"I had to see you again." She broke off and glanced at him timidly and wonderingly. He seemed too much a stranger. There, at all events, in these foreign surroundings she could hardly believe that this was the man who had made love to her in the Hastings gardens, whom she had married.

"I thought you were dead," she said in a husky voice.

"I knew you did. Every one thought so. I was carried off into the desert by the dervishes and kept a prisoner for nearly nine months."

"Why did you not let me know you were alive?"

He spoke firmly, even sternly, looking straight before him. "Because I had the sense to realize that I had done you wrong in marrying you. Your letters—especially one which I found on my return—showed me that. I saw that I had been a cad to take advantage of a young girl's difficulties and passing infatuation.

"I made inquiries. I heard that you were at least more prosperous and happy than you would have been as my wife. I determined to remain dead to you forever. I made up my mind never to return to England. It is most unfortunate that we should have met like this."

LOOKED DOWNWARD TO HIDE LIGHT IN EYES

His words showed him to be unaware of any illegality about their marriage. She was glad of that. She looked aside and downward to hide the light that came into her eyes. Then her lips set firmly, her expression hardened. She looked straight before her. "It was very wicked of you not to have let me know," she said harshly. "I dare say you meant well, but believing me to be your wife, you were bound to tell me you were still alive. You might have foreseen that I should marry again?"

He appeared puzzled rather than moved by her reproaches. "'Believing you to have been my wife,'" he repeated, "Well, weren't you?"

She spoke coldly and positively. "You made a false declaration of my age in the application for the license and in the register itself. I was under age, as you know, and could not be lawfully married without my guardian's consent. Of course," she went on quickly, with all the assurance she could put into her tone, "that voided the ceremony. I thought all men at least knew these things."

But for all the centainty of words expressed she shot him a frightened, half-questioning glance.

"Does Varney know all this?" he asked quietly.

"No. The girl I spoke of warned me not to tell him. She said that a man would never believe that I had acted innocently, that I had believed our marriage was binding. He would have thought——" Leslie's cheeks crimsoned and she broke off. And as I believed you to be dead, it did not seem worth while to tell him. I see now how wrong of me it was. Oh, Victor, why didn't you write?"

She clasped her small hands and stamped her foot angrily. The man at her side looked up quickly. "What difference would it have made, since you believed—since you knew—that our marriage was void?"

He seemed to be waiting hungrily, hopefully for her answer. For an instant their eyes met. He had looked like that when he told her he loved her in the Hastings garden. She lowered her long lashes.

"Oh, how can you ask me?" she cried with despairing gesture. "Legally married or not, I regarded myself as your wife. At least I should not have become the wife of another man without telling him that you were alive."

He wheeled sharply round as if disappointed at her answer, and stared with a hard, set face at the mountains.

"I must tell him now," went on Leslie passionately. "Heaven knows what he will say, what he will think of me. I was mad not to have told him."

"You must not dream of telling him now," said Victor gravely.

"Of course I shall tell him. Someone else, might—someone who has seen us together in the past. He might misunderstand our relations." She blushed again as the phrase at the back of her mind escaped her.

"There is more reason for keeping the secret now than when you thought I was dead," he maintained. "Men are not jealous of dead men—they may be of living. I don't mean to suggest," he said, with a bitter smile, "that Varney had any real reason for jealousy of me, but my existence would make him feel uncomfortable all the same. As to other people betraying our secret, the chance of that is remote in the extreme. O'Rourke, poor fellow, is dead. The only other witness to our marriage is settled in Canada. Very few people ever saw us together. Besides, who would connect Mrs. Varney with the wife of a cavalry sergeant? Believe me, Mrs. Varney, you would make a dreadful mistake in revealing this matter now to anyone, most of all to your husband."

FOR MOMENT BURIED FACE IN HER HANDS

She winced at the formal style of address. He went on: "It is extremely unlikely that we shall ever cross each other's path again. To you I remain practically dead."

For a moment she buried her face in her hands. His words were meant to convey relief, but they sounded like a knell in her ears. "Oh, how sad it is," she moaned, "that we should meet like this—that things should have ended in this way!"

He smiled. "I hope you don't mean that you would rather I were dead," he said.

She turned on him hotly. "How can you joke at such a moment."

"Why think about it?" he suggested. "It's just an unfortunate accident that we should have met today. You will forget all this—and me. We both acted innocently in the matter of the first marriage; as to the second, you thought I was dead. You are happy with Varney, are you not? I used to think he was a very good sort. And you have, I suppose, all the things you longed for."

"Yes, I am happy. I have my little boy."

To Put on Flesh And Increase Weight

A Physician's Advice

Most thin people eat from four to six pounds of good solid-fat-making food every day and still do not increase in weight one ounce, while on the other hand many of the plump, chunky folks eat very lightly and keep gaining all the time. It's all bosh to say that this is the nature of the individual. It isn't Nature's way at all.

Thin folks stay thin because their powers of assimilation are defective. They just absorb enough of the food they eat to maintain life and a semblance of health and strength. Stuffing won't help them. A dozen meals a day won't make them gain a single "stay there" pound. All the fat-producing elements of their food just stay in the intestines until they pass from the body as waste. What such people need is something that will prepare these fatty food elements so that their blood can absorb them and deposit them all about the body—something, too, that will multiply their red blood corpuscles and increase their blood's carrying power.

For such a condition I always recommend eating a Sargol tablet with every meal. Sargol is not, as some believe, a patented drug, but is a scientific combination of six of the most effective and powerful flesh-building elements known to chemistry. It is absolutely harmless yet wonderfully effective and a single tablet eaten with each meal often has the effect of increasing the weight of a thin man or woman from three to five pounds a week. Sargol is sold by good druggists everywhere on a positive guarantee of weight increase or money back.

HOW ACTRESSES REMOVE SUPERFLUOUS HAIR

They generally use El Rado, the liquid hair remover. It is absolutely infallible in its effect, and positively harmless. A few drops, a simple application, and any growth will vanish. You see only the skin, smooth and velvety, even whiter than before, because of the soothing, antiseptic ingredients in the preparation.

Stella Mayhew, one of the noted comediennes of the American stage, writes us: "Of all depilatories, I believe El Rado causes the most perfect obliteration of the hair, with a beneficial rather than harmful effect upon the skin."

The Woman Who Waits

The Folly of Wasting One's Years and Some of Its Lessons.

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX.

I AM a woman of thirty and have been receiving atentions from a man for the past ten years. He was the main support of his aged mother and sister and I did not feel as though I would like to be the cause of a family break-up, but he always said that if anything happened to his mother he would make me his wife. His mother died in December, and when I approached the subject he was very angry and said his sister had made him promise he would never marry unless she went with him. She is an old maid, near fifty, and I do not care for her. I am considered pretty. Now do you think he just wants my company to show his men friends he can have a pretty companion, or do you suppose he really cares for me?" writes Lila.

What I really suppose is this: The woman who sits for ten years waiting for the death of a man's mother or sister to free him from obligations so that he can marry her is cultivating a very morbid attitude toward the attainment of happiness. A man who has not the energy and initiative to work vigorously enough to be able to support a wife (in addition to taking care of his other burdens) in the course of ten years, has not the heart or brain or spirit to care for her with anything that can be classed as true love.

A girl who sits meekly waiting for ten years for her liege lord and master-man to make good so that he may assume the burden of supporting her is like., to be rewarded for her patience with a vast indifference when time puts him in a position to marry her.

I disapprove heartily of the spirit that counts its emotional realization in terms of some one's death. I disapprove equally heartily of the spirit that permits a woman to waste ten years of her life and youth in waiting. And I disapprove also of the spirit that after waiting ten years for its happiness she will not take it on the terms offered.

A WRONG SITUATION

When a man has been loyal to a mother and sister for ten years, do you expect him to turn that aging sister out in the streets that a wife, who has not taught herself to love the family of the man for whom she cares, may have the happiness she wants?

A situation like this is wrong from start to finish, and I quote as an example of how not to manage your love affairs.

If the man you love has obligations that make it honestly impossible for you to marry, the best thing to do is to try to put the thought of marriage out of your life.

If a man loves a woman and can't for her sake "hustle" sufficiently so that he can support three women instead of two, there is a lack of real fervor in his affection.

If a woman cares for a man enough to wait meekly for him during ten long years, and then declines to take her happiness if it includes having another woman who is dependent on him live in her home, she is selfish and cold and calculating in her love.

This is one of the many phases of the folly of waiting long years for a man to make good and marry you.

Emotions have a way of spending themselves and getting outworn unless they are of real sterling quality. The "woman who waits" is likely to lose her youthful charm and the novelty that fascinates and in the end have to make way for a younger sweetheart. She may become peevish and exacting through long years of unfulfilled love. She comes to be more of a habit than a feeling.

FINDS GLOW GONE

She sits drearily about looking at her unrealized dreams and finds at last that all the glow of feeling has gone from those once lovely dreams. And she comes to know that the man who selfishly asked her to wait for him has equally selfishly found some other desired one to take her place. Or when she can have her love fulfilled she finds that she has come to care with so little depth and favor that she won't take what is offered on the terms she must have it.

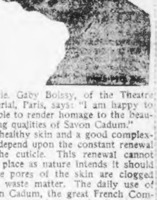
Dreams fade and become stolid, hopeless things. Dreams were not made to be tethered at a distance and kept for future realization. And the human heart was not made to wear itself out in the tiring round of a long—and perhaps never-to-be-accomplished engagement.

Two selfish and cold-blooded people can scarcely hope to be happy together. My advice to Lila is either to love the man for whom she cares with an all-embracing passion that will include his sister—or to dismiss him forever from her life and be glad that she is still young enough and attractive enough to hope for happiness elsewhere.

Smashing

"I have a set of dishes that belonged to my grandmother."

"Really! Ours are all new. You see, we've always kept maids."



Mlle. Gaby Boissy, of the Theatre Imperial, Paris, says: "I am happy to be able to render homage to the beautifying qualities of Savon Cadum."

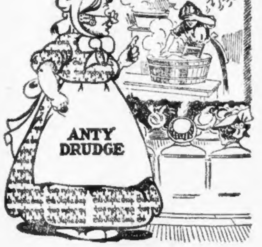
A healthy skin and a good complexion depend upon the constant renewal of the cuticle. This renewal cannot take place as nature intends it should if the pores of the skin are clogged with waste matter. The daily use of Savon Cadum, the great French Complexion soap, insures cleanliness, and produces a healthy activity of the pores, which is of vital importance in maintaining a clear skin. At drug and dept. stores, 50c. a cake.

No matter how dirty a thing is, Fels-Naptha Soap in a few minutes will get it clean in cool or lukewarm water, better than if it was hard-rubbed and boiled for hours.

Coffee stains, blood stains, fruit stains—Fels-Naptha takes them all out.

It's the soap that works while you rest. Just soap your clothes and put them to soak in cool or lukewarm water for 30 minutes. The hard part of the work is done for you, and only the easy part is left.

Just as good for all kinds of housework. It dissolves grease on pots and pans, whitens woodwork, brightens the colors in oilcloth and linoleum—all without hard rubbing or scrubbing.



You Can't Fool Anty Drudge

Anty Drudge (in a moving picture theatre)—"Young man, stop those pictures! They're all wrong. Every woman here knows that nobody does their washing that way these days. Just look at that washboiler on the stove. And that poor thing looks ready to drop and the wash not half done yet. It's ridiculous. Nowadays women use Fels-Naptha Soap, throw away their washboilers and get their wash on the line in a few hours. You'd better make a new film."

Follow the directions on the Red and Green Wrapper.

Better buy Fels-Naptha by the carton or box.

BUSINESS SENTIMENT NOW BETTER

"There is no doubt but there has been a betterment of sentiment in financial circles within a few days. Belief grows that difficulties in the way of cancelling this country's foreign indebtedness are fast being removed, while increased exportations are helping to readjust to international credit situation to American advantage.

"Unless financial authorities lack foresight, the balance of trade will be before long in our favor to an extent unknown in years. This is going to result from this country's selling abroad far more than it buys there. Anything which help strengthen the financial situation will have a salutary effect upon business in general.

PILING UP CAPITAL.

"One prominent Boston broker says this country is piling up surplus capital at a tremendous rate.

"The American people number about 100,000,000 and they are in an economical mood," her emarked today. "They are saving money to a greater extent than has been observed within the recollection of this generation. If savings average only ten cents per capita this would mean $10,000,000 a day.

"This has been going on for some time, all this money is not going to be kept in savings banks or stockings. Eventually much of it will be invested in securities. Sound ones will be in great demand when times get normal."

Americans have not been as thrifty in the past as Europeans. In the ten leading European countries there are about 372 despositors on a naverage to each thousand people. In the United States there are only ninety-nine.

MORE MONEY FOR TRADE.

There should be no lack of money for business purposes in the United States after the new currency system is put into operation, which will be on November 16. Comptroller of Currency Williams figures from reports by national banks rendered on September 12 last that such institutions will have when the reserve system is started $580,000,000 more in reserves than is required by law.

As regards savings deposits, it is reported from New York, where more timidity was shown by depositors when the war began than was manifested in Boston, that withdrawals upon sixty-day notice have not been much more than one-third of what was indicated by notices. New notices of withdrawals have dwindled almost to the vanishing point.

Conservatory Class Largest in History

Examinations for the junior class of the New England Conservatory of Music have been completed and the largest class in the history of the school has been registered as preparing to be graduated two years hence. It numbers 126 members.

Optimistics

It is now estimated that Germany and Austria may buy 2,500,000 bales of this country's 1914 cotton crop instead of 1,400,000, since Great Britain has announced it will not regard this staple as contraband of war.

* * *

The exports of this country for September were $45,968,219 in excess of the total for August. The gain was chiefly because of greatly increased shipments of grains and meats.

* * *

It is believed that when the steel industry revives it will have the most prosperous period ever known. Slackness in this line is only temporary.

* * *

Producers report the foreign demand for copper is increasing. Over 10,000,000 pounds were shipped from this country to Italian ports last week.

* * *

It is stated by foreign exchange authorities that more cotton bills are coming into the market and that offerings are steadily nearing normal.

* * *

Australia is coming to this country for steel supplies. American mills are figuring on supplying 13,000 tons of plates for the Antipodes.

* * *

Although the United States Steel Corporation has reduced its dividend rate, its earnings for the third quarter of the year were $22,278,000, compared with $20,457,596 for the second and $17,994,381 for the first.

* * *

A Wisconsin knitting concern has received an order for 400,000 sweaters to be shipped to England.

* * *

Within a week the provision traffic in Chicago increased 1,435,000 pounds and the gain for a year was 3,704,000.

* * *

The Carbon Steel Company has received orders for 8,000 tons of armor plate, which is to be shipped to Europe.

* * *

The French government has ordered for its army 80,000 pairs of shoes of R. P. Hazz & Co. of Gardiner, Me.

* * *

Wellington, Sears & Co. of Boston has received an order to supply the French army with 500,000 yards of cotton duck and will furnish England with 1,000,000 yards. Duck is used in war time for tents and stretchers.

* * *

The attendance at the carpet auction conducted in New York by Alexander Smith & Sons Carpet Company was so large that Manager Parkinson remarked that buyers came from all sections and sales were up to the record of former years. "The attitude of buyers," he said, "is not an indication of pessimism."

City Hall Night at Keith's Theatre

Tonight will be City Hall Night at Keith's Theatre. Mayor Curley, Daniel J. McDonald, president of the City Council, and his colleagues, the heads of departments and the entire staff of City Hall employes plan to attend the performance in honor of Walter Maranville, the shortstop of the World's Champion Braves, and Ed Machugh, the well-known Boston entertainer, who are appearing at B. F. Keith's Theatre this week.

Salvation Army Wants Old Linen

Mrs. Gifford, wife of Colonel Adam Gifford of the Salvation Army, has issued an appeal to the public for wornout linen or muslin, which will be made into bandages and handkerchiefs for wounded soldiers in Europe. All packages should be sent to her at No. 5 East Brookline street.

J. R. Murphy Urges Citizens to Retain Small City Council

Chairman John R. Murphy of the Boston Finance Commission declares himself opposed to the larger City Council bill, which will reach the people by referendum at the State election.

"I wish to go on record," he says, "in favor of the retention of the present small Council. The small Council has shown conclusively in its record that no part of the city is discriminated against and the interests of the city as a whole are looked after.

"I cannot too strongly express my hope that the citizens of Boston, irrespective of party, for the sake of the welfare of the city to which we owe loyalty and allegiance, will on election day go to the polls and vote 'No' against an enlargement of the Council."

Be Very Careful How You Give to "War Victims" and "War Collectors" Generally

A Recent Red Cross Incident Should Serve as a Warning

Copyright, 1914, by the Star Company

Many are suffering in Europe. Give, if you can. BUT MAKE SURE THAT THE SUFFERING GET IT.

The children are suffering in Europe, and will lack presents at Christmas time.

But plenty of children are suffering in the United States and will also lack presents at Christmas time.

If you send to Europe you CANNOT BE QUITE SURE what will become of that which you send.

If you give in the United States to somebody that you know, or contribute to some fund in the United States in which you have confidence, you will KNOW what becomes of your gift.

We would not discourage any giver. Give to Prussia, China, Timbuctoo, if you like—but make sure that your gift GETS to Timbuctoo sufferers and isn't divided by three or four Timbuctoo charitable gentlemen.

Be warned particularly by a recent incident in our Red Cross money-collecting business.

When the story is told of that Red Cross ship you will find what becomes of SOME of the money "sent to Europe." It does not all get there.

The goods sent abroad by Americans could have been sent abroad free of charge. Steamships would have carried them undoubtedly without any charge, and carried the nurses and doctors also, free or for a nominal charge.

But it was thought necessary to make a grand display, to have a big "Red Cross advertisement."

A wretched boat was hired, and according to reports it had a wretched crew and wretched management.

It probably would be no exaggeration to say that somebody foolishly threw away many thousands of dollars of Red Cross money. According to reports the whole waste was rather over than under fifty thousand.

If they squander money sending your gifts across the ocean what do you suppose happens to the gifts and to the money after they get to the other side of the ocean?

This giving at a distance where you know nothing about it is dangerous, unsatisfactory business.

If you feel that you must send to Europe, send, of course.

If you really want to do good, you have plenty of chances here in America, where those not responsible for the war have lost their work through the war, and where hundreds of thousands of children will have a very sad Christmas if you don't help them.

Why It Is Hard to Take Advice

Advising Began With LANGUAGE, and Men Have Not Yet Become Accustomed to Using Language Wisely

Copyright, 1914, by the Star Company

When your little boy listens to your advice—without very great attention—and when you realize that the advice does not impress him, you might talk to him as follows:

Once upon a time no man on earth was able to speak or possessed any language. The man of that ancient time was called Homo Alalus—that is to say, man without speech.

Before men could speak everybody, EVERY LITTLE BOY, had to find out everything for himself.

His father had made all the mistakes, and had had all the bitter experiences. But he could not tell his son about it.

Each human had to learn for himself the dangers of life, the mistakes of life. And in those days the very old man was looked up to as the very wise man, because he HAD GONE THROUGH SO MANY EXPERIENCES.

The young men when they went out to fight were glad to have an old man or an old woman go with them, even a feeble old woman, for she knew HOW to lead them, knew where the swampy places were in the bogs, and knew the good paths over the hills.

Little by little man built up a language.

First, he had just a few sounds as the monkeys have now. One sound meant fear, one meant danger approaching, one meant hunger, one meant thirst, one meant affection.

From these sounds—the language—complicated as it is now, gradually developed.

After men could speak THEY COULD ADVISE EACH OTHER.

The father could say to this son, "I went where you are going, and I fell in a swamp and was nearly killed. Don't go there."

The mother could say to her daughter, "Don't go far from the cave. If you see a MAN, or anything that looks like a man, run home as fast as you can. I went out once and talked to a strange man, and had a great deal of trouble."

Human beings have developed very rapidly since they learned to talk, BECAUSE ALL OF US HAVE BEEN ABLE TO GET THE EXPERIENCE OF ALL THE OTHERS.

We are, as a poet has said, the heirs of all the ages, because the accumulated EXPERIENCES AND MISTAKES of all others are made plain to us.

Unfortunately, the world grows old slowly. Men have been able to speak only a few tens of thousands of years. That seems a long time to us, but it is not very much in the life of the human race.

And we are very near those old ancestors of ours who had no language. Our little boys are very closely related to the little savage boys whose fathers could not talk to them or advise them.

And our little boys, being like the savage children, still have the idea that they ought to find out everything for themselves. Their brains have not been accustomed to taking advice, to benefiting by the fact that fathers and mothers can talk and can tell the children what they know, what they have seen, and the mistakes they have made.

If you explain to your little boy that the nearer a man is to a savage the less he is willing to take advice, and that the nearer he is to a highly civilized intelligent human being the more readily he takes advice, the more readily HE MAKES USE OF THE WONDERFUL GIFT OF LANGUAGE, you will find the boy—girl—more inclined to listen to you.

Why It Is Cold on a High Mountain

By GARRETT P. SERVISS

"If our heat comes from the sun, why is it that as we ascend high mountains we come to eternal snow at the summit, while in the valley below perpetual Summer is reigning? Doesn't it seem natural that if the heat comes from the sun it should increase the nearer we get to the sun? Yet aviators will tell you their gasoline freezes if they go too high."—A Steady Reader, Chicago.

The sunshine is, intrinsically, a little hotter on a mountain top than in the valley beneath. But the air is much colder because it is less dense than some thousands of feet below. The atmosphere acts as a trap for the heat derived from the sun, playing for all the lower earth the same part that the gardener's hothouse plays for his plants.

The density of the air falls off so rapidly that at a height of about five miles the atmosphere is only half as dense as at the earth's surface. Through the light, rare air on a mountain the sunbeams penetrate with little obstruction, and the air itself remains cold, but in the valleys, where the air is both much denser and more charged with vapors and impurities, the sunbeams are comparatively strongly obstructed, and the air absorbs a great deal of heat from them. Thus the lower air serves as a blanket, accumulating and retaining the heat.

If you are on a lofty mountain, like Mt. Blanc, with eternal snow all about you, the sunshine burns like a blister, but the heating effect is superficial because, owing to the rarity of the air, the heat is radiated away again instantly, without obstruction. This is why the snow does not melt. If the air lying upon the snow were dense it would absorb and retain the heat, and the snow would be melted, as it is in the valley. The fiercest sun-heat that I have ever experienced was on the top of Mt. Blanc, where the snow (so deep that M. Janssen could find no rock on which to found his observatory), is packed as hard and crisp as salt in a bag. It was not the oppressive heat of the muggy lower air, but a raking furnace breath that simply scorched the skin. The hard snow, a very poor conductor of heat, was a white shield, from which the blinding sunbeams glanced off like billions of tiny arrows.

The sunbeams are not heat, but only the cause of heat. They are vibrations in the ether that fills all space (according to the accepted theory), and which have been set going by the agitation of the molecules of excessively hot gases constituting the globe of the sun. These vibrations, taking the form of minute waves, are radiated from the sun in all directions, with a speed of 186,300 miles per second. Some of the ether waves, on reaching the earth, produce the sensation that we call light, by their impact upon the nervous background of our eyes.

Others, on coming into collision with the substances constituting the earth and its atmosphere produce, in the molecules of those substances, a kind of agitation like that which prevails in the molecules of the sun, and which, as just said, causes the waves in the ether. This molecular agitation generates the sensation of heat. It is transferred from the sun to the earth somewhat as your voice is transferred to your friend's ears by a telephone. On its way from the transmitting instrument to the receiver the telephone message is not a voice, or a series of sounds, but a set of electric vibrations that have been produced by a voice and that can be reformed into a voice on reaching their destination. So, the waves of radiant energy sent out from the sun are not heat, but have been set going by heat in the sun and can be transformed into heat again on encountering the earth.

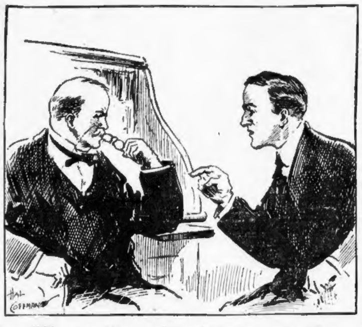
Chap. VIII.--THE FORGED CHECK



"Give me time and I will find the culprit"

THE afternoon that Frank had told Helen of his love for her and also promised her never to drink again, Paul Van Buren had been in the office late — after the other employes had gone—and had overheard Helen and Frank talking. He had laughed at them and gone out. After he had gone Frank said to Helen, "Now what was that fellow doing in the office this time of day? Up to some more of his crookedness I suppose, so I guess, girlie, we had better be on the lookout for trouble."

A few days after this Frank was called into the office of Van Buren, the head of the firm. The "old man" acted very strangely when Frank came in. He told Frank to take a seat and seemed lost in thought for some minutes. Suddenly he reached in his desk and turning to Frank he handed him a bank check. Looking narrowly at Frank he said, "What do you know of this affair?"

Frank looked at the check. It was for $1,500, and made out to Frank Deming, signed by Van Buren for the firm and indorsed in what appeared to be Frank's signature.

"What have you don with that money?" asked Van Buren. At first Frank could not grasp what he was talking about, but when he finally did, he could only say in a dazed way, "And you accuse me of this forgery?"

"It is pretty hard for me to believe, Deming, but there is your name and the money is gone, so what am I to do?"

"Mr. Van Buren," said Frank, "I have worked for you ever since I was a boy and I am as innocent of this as you are yourself, and before you condemn me, give me a chance and I will find the culprit."

When a Man's in Love

Signs and Symptoms by Which the Anxious Maiden May Know When Her Fish Is Ready for the Landing Net Described by Dorothy Dix

By DOROTHY DIX

A GREAT many girls have asked me the question, at once the most important and the most difficult to answer that ever confronts a woman, and that is: How can a girl tell whether a man is in love with her or not?

You can't always tell, daughter, because men were deceivers ever, as the old song says. Also women are so eager to be loved, and so anxious to believe that they fascinate every man they meet, that they easily fool themselves in the matter. Still, there are certain signs and symptoms that the man in love manifests which are pretty reliable guides.

The first thing that I would impress upon you, daughter, is to pay no attention to what a man says, but to keep a searchlight turned upon the way he acts. Likewise bear in mind that poetic and fluent-love-making is no indication of the state of a man's affections. The ability to make love like a matinee hero shows that the man is full of words, and that he's had much experience.

The first reliable symptom that a man gives that he is hard hit for keeps is when he becomes Johnnie-on-the-Spot, and wherever the girl goes he is sure as fate to bob up. Men who are not in love and who have to work for a living are rushed for time. They have engagements they can't break, and they are too tired to go to places, but while a man's in love he juggles with time and finds leisure to chase the adored one. After he is married he will again get busy and not be able to slip away to meet his wife for afternoon teas, or a lingering lunch; but while he's courting her he's Mary's little lamb.

The Second Symptom

The second symptom of acute heart trouble that a man exhibits is when he shows an eagerness to adopt all of your opinions instead of trying to force his down your throat. Also he listens with rapt attention while you expound your views, and becomes instantly converted to suffrage, or the higher thoughts, or whatever else you believe. The only time a man ever has any respect for a woman's opinion is when he's in love, so this is an acid test to apply to his affection.

The third indication of love is to be seen in the man's attitude toward your family. If he looks bored when Papa discourses to him about the part he took in the Battle of Gettysburg and mother bemoans the triflingness of servant girls nowadays, and if he looks as if he could murder little brother and sister when they hang around, there's nothing doing. He's merely amusing himself. But when he hangs on mother's and father's words, and bestows money on little brother and sister, it is a clear indication that he is trying to make friends at court.

A fourth indication that a man is really in love is to be found in his memory. If he recalls every carelessly spoken wish of yours and tries to gratify it; if he remembers that you wear violets instead of roses, and that you prefer salted almonds to chocolate creams, then you may begin planning your wedding dress. Only men in love remember a woman's desires. Husbands and all other men suffer from aphasia on this point.

The Fifth Indication

The fifth indication of love in a man is when he begins to try to take care of a girl. As long as he isn't in love with her, all that he cares about is for her to be a good looker and dress stunningly enough to make people rubber at her, and if she wants to kill herself by pneumonia or dyspepsia, it's none of his affairs. Observe, therefore, when you go out with a man whether he inquires if you have on heavy shoes and enough around your throat, and heed well when he orders the meal at a restaurant whether he presses a good, thick steak and potatoes on you, or lets you eat lobster salad and ice cream. If he insists on rational food, it's a sure sign that he's thinking about your future doctor's bills.

The sixth indication of love that a man gives is when he begins to tell you how he hates boarding, and to call your attention to how happy the Lovey-Doveys are in a little Harlem flat, and to ascertain your views about whether two can't live as cheaply as one. Until a man really begins to think about getting married himself he looks upon domesticity about as kindly as he does upon the smallpox, and with the same ardent hope that he'll never catch it, but when he falls in love he becomes a rooter for the fireside virtues.

Therefore put no dependence in a man's love talk until it begins veering around toward open plumbing and gas ranges, and quiet evenings at home.

Of course, there are times when all signs fail, but, generally speaking, a close observation of the symptoms hereinbefore enumerated will enable a young woman to diagnose a man's case, and tell whether his attack of the tender passion is chronic and likely to lead to serious results, or only sporadic and flirtatious.

But never, never, NEVER judge whether a man's in love or not by his talk alone.

AWAKE

By CONSTANCE CLARKE

WHY is the sun so very bright today?
Why is the world so very, very fair?
I think I'd like to sing my heart away
And watch it sailing down the blue sky bay
Away out there.

What are these funny thoughts that come to me?
My heart is like a little bird uncaged.
How quickly can a thought wave come to be.
Can every one I chance to meet with see
I am engaged?

Three Great Stories by Famous Authors!

¶"A Quiet Evening," by Compton Mackenzie, portrays the humor and pathos of theatrical life in London.

¶The "Gallantry of Abelansky" is another of Bruno Lessing's fascinating Ghetto stories.

¶"The Star Rover," by Jack London, relates the amazing experiences of the most remarkable hero this great writer ever created.

¶You will find these three stories, which you surely will not want to miss, in the Great Magazine Free with Next Sunday's Boston AMERICAN.
